STOCKHOLM (AP) — Two American professors today were jointly awarded the 1966 Nobel Prize for Medicine. They were Dr. Peyton Rous, 87, of the Rockefeller University, New York, and Dr. Charles B. Huggins, 66, of Chicago University Hospital.

Rous was awarded his prize for his discovery of tumor-inducing viruses and Huggins was cited for his discoveries concerning hormonal treatment of prostate cancer, the awarding faculty of the Caroline Institute said.

They share the $60,000 prize. Rous, a native of Baltimore, received his medical degree from Johns Hopkins University in 1900. Since 1909 he has been connected with the Rockefeller University, formerly known as Rockefeller Institute.

Huggins is a native of Halifax, N.S. He was graduated from Harvard Medical School in 1924 and holds degrees from several schools. He has been at the University of Chicago since 1927. He has been director of the Ben May Laboratory for Cancer Research since 1951.

Huggins is a specialist in studies of the male urogenital tract, cancer of the prostate, and mammary cancer. He is married and has two children.

Rous is a world-famed pathologist and specialist within the field of viruses as causative agents of cancer, mode of action of carcinogens, which are factors involved in the invasive growth of cancer, the Swedish Medical College said.

The selection by the Caroline Medical College is the first of five Nobel awards to be announced in the next three weeks. Each carries a cash prize of about $60,000 from the fund established by the will of Alfred Nobel, the inventor of dynamite, a gold medal and enormous prestige.

The literature prize will be awarded Oct. 20 by the Swedish Academy of Letters, the physics and chemistry prizes Nov. 3, by the Royal Academy of Science. The fifth prize for contributions to peace, will be awarded by the Norwegian Parliament.

Rous is married and has three daughters. One of them, Marion, is married to Briton Alan Lloyd Hodekin of Cambridge University, who shared the 1963 (Continued on Page 35, Col. 4)

Pessimism Still Cloaks General Electric Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiations aimed at averting a General Electric Co. strike continue today in a pessimistic atmosphere. The talks were described by a special White House mediation panel as "dead center."

About 125,000 members of 11 unions are threatening to strike the huge company at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

New Offer Rejected
The government has been making a major effort to avert the strike, claiming the firm's production is vital to the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam.

The company made a new offer Wednesday which Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor described as a "slight improvement." The unions rejected it.

Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, which represents 80,000 workers in the contract dispute, called the new company offer "insignificant."

The new offer was made at the first joint negotiating session since shortly after President Johnson won a two-week strike postponement and moved the talks here from New York.

Relations Are Touchy
Relations between the two sides were extremely touchy.

AFL-CIO President George Meany called a meeting for Friday of the chief officers of the 11 unions to map strike plans which Meany said would be supported by all 129 unions embracing 13.5 million workers in the labor federation.

Johnson reportedly was prepared to delay any strike for (Continued on Page 6, Col. 6)

Estimate Rhinebeck Sales Of Angus to Net $3 Million

The big Angus auction, which opened in Rhinebeck this morning and the serving of cocktails to potential bidders, came in for total coverage and plenty of space by the Wall Street Journal today.

Within the period of the next three days, Rhinebeck may well make its mark in the world as the biggest money cow market of them all. Kingston's neighboring town across the river is currently the scene of an auction that is attracting bidders and buyers from all over the nation, as a prize, purebred Aberdeen-Angus herd goes on the block at Ankony Farm, one of the lushest spreads in the Hudson Valley or anywhere else. Financial experts estimate that the proceeds from the auction block could well top $3 million, which would be about three times the previous record income from a single Angus cattle sale.

Such staggering sums of money are involved because the herd is large—94 bulls and 530 cows, 200 of them accompanied by unweaned calves. This veritable goldmine on the hoof is being sold by breeder Lee Leachman and industrialist Allan A. Ryan, chairman of Royal McBee Corp. and heir to a turn-of-the-century fortune. Money will literally flow in Rhinebeck this week as, during the course of the auction, more "important" Blacks than ever before offered in history join in the "parade of bulls."

Investment Catapults

The auction culminates another Horatio Alger story since the herd up for sale represents an original capital investment of only $3,300 — an investment which is now expected to bring Ryan, who wants to retire from active breeding for travel, a return of more than $3 million.

Normally tranquil and peaceful Rhinebeck was a beehive of activity this morning as some 2,000 persons—representing the big names in Angus breeding—descended on the town to shatter the quiet. Among the celebrities being pointed out on the street were Senator Albert Gore of Tennessee, movie star Fred MacMurray and James C. Penney, 91-year-old founder of J. C. Penney Co.

Through Rhinebeck, visitors were wending their way to Ankony Farm, 2 1/2 acres of well manicured grazing land which (Continued on Page 35, Col. 5)

Almost Halfway

Charles E. Raible and George W. Tamke, campaign chairmen of the 1967 Ulster County Community Chest Campaign, announced today that $144,920 or 48.6 per cent of the $299,600 goal has been raised to date. The campaign is due to close Saturday, Oct. 15 with 80 per cent of the goal reached. All campaign workers are asked to complete their calls and turn in their results. The Chest office will be open all day Saturday. Optimism still prevails and it is hoped that it will not be necessary to extend the campaign.

The Saugerties Township has raised $3,299.10 or 20 per cent of the goal of $16,200 and New Paltz results show $980 or 9.6 per cent of the $10,200.

State Comptroller

Levitt Plans Election Win With Victory Psychology

By CHARLES DUMAS

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt is conducting the modern equivalent of a "front porch" campaign as he seeks a fourth term in office.

The 65-year-old Brooklyn Democrat plainly shares the view of most political observers that he is a shoo-in for re-election.

Consequently, he has dis-claimed to undertake a conventional campaign drive, preferring instead to let a victory psychology draw in the votes.

Supremely Confident

The posture he has adopted is one of the established officeholder, the proven winner at the polls, who is supremely confident that the electorate will recognize his merit once again.

When he does make a public pronouncement, the tenor is that he is much too busy tending to the public business to run around the state shaking hands or kissing babies.

He set the tone of his "non campaign" with this statement, issued in mid-September:

"There is far too much work to be done during these days of crisis in our fiscal and economic affairs. If I were to abandon my desk for the street corner, I ought not to be state comptroller."

Not much has been heard from him since.

Has Campaign Headquarters

This is not to say that Levitt has retired completely to the sidelines. He has made the concession of opening a campaign headquarters, although he is a stranger to the premises. And he does venture forth from his Albany office to make a speech now and then.

But Levitt likes to bill his speaking appearances as essentially non-political. The forum he prefers is a service club or a parent-teacher group. He tells what he has been trying to accomplish as "the people's auditor" and lets it go at that.

Levitt's strategy is frustrating, to say the least, to his Republican opponent, Oneida County Executive Charles T. Langan, who would like to establish his identity with the voters by locking horns publicly with Levitt. The comptroller simply ignores him.

Irrks Own Party

The Levitt technique also has irked some highly placed persons in his own party. They grumble privately that Levitt's attitude is a selfish one — that he could abet Democratic victory prospects by conducting an aggressive campaign against the Republican ticket led by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller.

Levitt is not loathe to criticize Rockefeller's fiscal policies, but he shuns anything that smacks of blatant partisanship. It would not be consonant with the image Levitt has sought to create as the dedicated fiscal officer.

So, symbolically at least, Levitt is sitting back and letting the world beat a path to his door — as Republican Warren G. Harding did in the presidential campaign of 1920.

Made Good Showing

What inspires the comptroller's confidence is the dazzling showing he made at the polls the last time out. He won his first term in 1954 by the narrow margin of 25,000 votes and survived the Rockefeller tide in 1958 by a mere 15,000. But in 1962, he rolled up an eye-popping plurality of 791,000.

From that point, Levitt has regarded himself as an Albany fixture. Even Langan will be surprised if Levitt is wrong.

Questions Often Asked About Chest Drives

What does the Chest campaign cost and administration? This is a good question to answer at this time in view of the numerous comments concerning expenses. The goal for this year's campaign is $299,600, includes the sum of $33,500, which is budgeted for the operation of the office and staff during the year and for campaign expenses.

A businessman would be quick to comment that this is a conservative amount to spend for operating the "13 agencies in one" annual fund drive. The Chest staff consists of an executive director and two clerical personnel. One should remember the Chest also concerns itself with budgeting and planning as well as the fund campaign in the fall. However, the question most often asked today is—how about the campaign expenses?

The Chest has yet to raise its goal since its inception 11 years ago. The campaign committee recognizes the ambitious undertaking of raising 50 per cent more over last year which is the difference of the $200,000 raised last year and $299,600 this year. How then can this be done? Once again a businessman will say, "in order to make money we have to spend money to advertise." The campaign, therefore, is expending twice the amount for promotion and publicity from what was spent last year. More detailed information is available at the office since to discuss it further would require more space than is available. The public is invited to attend "The Community Meets the Community Chest" public meeting Tuesday, Oct. 18, from 11 a. m. to 12 noon, at the Governor Clinton Hotel. This program will be broadcast over local radio stations. Phones will also be available to call in questions. Next: Why aren't there more agencies in the Chest.

A TRAGIC COURSE

There is little doubt that the United States has the armed might to smash all resistance in Viet Nam. Assuming that China and Russia would stay out of the conflict—rather a large assumption, but one made here for the sake of argument—U.S. military power could almost certainly bring the Viet Cong and their North Vietnamese supporters to their knees if Washington chose to use that power all-out.

This has never been the question, however. Too many political factors are involved to warrant making the Viet Nam war a simple test of military strength. A victory won by the hammer blows of superior force might turn out not to be a victory at all, but an incalculable setback to our interests. It must also be considered—and here we abandon the very risky assumption that Moscow and Peking would sit by—that unlimited war against the Communists would gravely endanger world peace.

This is the background against which one must consider former President Eisenhower's assertion that he would take any action necessary to win the Viet Nam war, and would not even preclude use of nuclear weapons. Happily the administration does not appear to agree with this attitude; it has followed a policy of some restraint, and is keenly aware that the political drawbacks would outweigh the military gains of using nuclear weapons. But there is some danger that, because of General Eisenhower's prestige both as a military man and as a former chief executive, his remarks will tend to build up public sentiment for "ending it quickly," no matter how.

This must not be debated as a party issue, despite some temptation to make it that. The question is whether we should permit ourselves to be maneuvered, as Senator Pastore shrewdly put it, "into a position where we have to use nuclear or thermonuclear weapons." That would be a profound tragedy for us and for the world.

SPACE TREATY COMING

The Soviet Union has made heartening concessions in its revised proposal for an international agreement on the peaceful exploration of space. This may not reflect any easing of Soviet intransigence, and in any case there continues to be an abundant supply of that. But Russian acceptance of the United States position on three points in the treaty draft does seem to indicate that Moscow is anxious to reach agreement.

The situation is similar in some respects to that immediately preceding agreement on the partial nuclear test ban treaty in 1963. After long deliberation, with much of the usual tugging and hauling, things came to a head with remarkable suddenness. It is not excessive optimism to think that the same rather precipitate sort of agreement may be reached on the space treaty.

In each instance, it was clearly in the interest of both Washington and Moscow—and of the rest of the world as well—to reach agreement. In 1963, neither side had anything further to gain by additional nu-

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
GENERAL ELECTRIC FEELS THE WEIGHT OF THE GOVERNMENT

To judge from the hoopla coming out of Washington, the prospect of a strike of the International Union of Electrical Workers and its "coalition associates" against the General Electric Company is almost as frightful to contemplate as an epidemic of the bubonic plague.

Since GE is a huge congeries of a "hundred separate businesses," making everything from light bulbs to big generators and military electronic equipment, a strike involving the whole company would hurt scores of communities and have a seriously delaying effect on Vietnam war planning. But whoever said that GE, in the event that the various "coalition" unions refuse to accept what they themselves have described as "the best contract offer the company has ever made," needs to be closed down on a total coast-to-coast basis?

The answer is that the unions hope it would be that way, and the Johnson Administration wants the nation to fear it would be that way. Up until this year GE has managed to deal with its many unions on a relatively decentralized basis; it has had only one seriously crippling strike in over 20 years. But the whole course of the new "coalition" union strategy for 1966 has been to compel GE to bargain "nationally." The unions know a stacked deck when they see it. Wherever a labor-management conflict can be made "industry wide," union leaders have been able to count on federal intervention to force a settlement in their favor. Thus "collective bargaining" is reduced to a one-sided farce.

The trap is made more effective if a union can manage to have its old contract terminate in an election year. The last thing the Johnson Administration can afford to have happen three weeks before election day is a big strike involving violence in many places. So, to bring GE and its unions together in a patch-up agreement that must end "collective bargaining" on union-dominated terms, the Administration has thrown everything into the works except the kitchen sink. The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service is in it, as might reasonably be expected. But so are the Secretaries of Labor, Commerce and Defense. And, in addition to three cabinet members, the Joint Chiefs of Staff have joined in the argument. Meanwhile the Department of Justice, whether by coincidence or design, is murmuring menacing things about the GE position in the electric light bulb market.

The idea which the government is trying to convey is that a GE strike would knock weapons out of the hands of "our men in the jungles and rice paddies in Vietnam." It wouldn't have to be so. For the Taft-Hartley law, which could be invoked to compel an 80-day cooling-off period, is there as a federal club to keep General Electric workers turning out the electronic gear needed in Vietnam. The Taft-Hartley provision could only have to be applied to 12 out of GE's 165 plants, and to some six per cent of its workers, to keep the General Electric war effort up to par.

Meanwhile, GE has hastened to assure the American people that, in the event the unions see fit to quit the bargaining table, no strike against GE production can be universally effective even in the plants that are making things for purely civilian use. The feeling of the top command at GE is that its traditional "open-plant" policy would enable it to continue on two-thirds of its employees showing up for work no matter what the strongest of its unions, the IUE, chooses to do about a strike call. No doubt the crossing of the picket lines by non-union workers would produce nasty confrontations all over America. But both strikes and the effort to keep production going in spite of strikes are legal in America, and if the country is to retain its traditional rights it should be prepared to let the police handle labor violence. A show-down in GE which did not affect war production would not mean the end of the world. It could, in the end, lead to a common-sense settlement.

Politically, however, it can't be allowed to happen. Election day is too close, and too many members of the House of Representatives who voted to repeal 14 (b), the controversial "right-to-work" law, are already in trouble.

If You're Pregnant, Watch For Signs of Toxemia
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My niece had toxemia of pregnancy and the doctor took the baby at seven months by Caesarean section. Is this always done? Is there any other treatment for this condition?

A—Toxemia or poisoning of pregnancy includes three related conditions — pernicious vomiting (not the ordinary morning sickness), pre-eclampsia and eclampsia. They are caused by the production of the normal end products of protein metabolism in increased quantity and the inability of the kidneys to neutralize these poisonous waste products and of her kidney to eliminate them. These poisons further damage the liver and kidneys, thus setting up a vicious cycle.

The early signs of toxemia are scanty urine, headache, swelling of the feet and blurred vision. When these signs are noted prompt treatment with bed rest and a diet low in protein is often followed by improvement. In more severe cases Epsom salts, drugs to lower the blood pressure and barbiturates are given. This treatment enables most women to carry the baby to full term but, even with the best of care, it may be necessary to terminate the pregnancy either by inducing labor or by Caesarean section.

Q—If a woman had nephritis in childhood, could this cause her to be sterile?

A—Some other cause for her infertility should be sought—an obstruction of the uterine tubes or oviducts, endometriosis, a deficiency of thyroid, ovarian or pituitary hormone, abnormal secretions of the uterine cervix, fibroid tumors, tilting of the uterus or other local causes. Tests may have to be made to track down the true cause.

Q—How can I find out whether I have too much or too little calcium? What are the symptoms of a calcium deficiency? What would cause too much calcium in the system?

A—The normal range of blood calcium in adults is 8.5 to 10.5 milligrams. This can be maintained by a daily intake of 800 milligrams. A person may have a mild calcium deficiency for years without any symptoms, but if there is a deficiency of parathyroid hormone, muscle spasms of the hands and general irritability may occur. With uncomplicated calcium deficiency there is danger of softening of the bones.

Too much calcium may occur when too much vitamin D is taken, when the parathyroids are overly active or when one has multiple myeloma.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

clear test blasts; there was plenty of "overkill" in both nuclear arsenals, and the peril of increasing radioactive fallout was evident. At present, both countries are anxious to make sure that the hostilities and tensions on this planet will not infect undertakings in space.

There is one significant difference: in 1966 the growing detente between the United States and Russia has been chilled by the Viet Nam war. The new Soviet space treaty proposals give reason to hope, however, that Moscow is bent on securing agreement and is not going to let the dispute over the war interfere.

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

SAIGON (NEA)—To Western minds, the Viet Cong badly lost the recent election run to select men to write a new constitution for South Viet Nam.

But to Communist minds, the VC were setting the stage for a try at winning the presidency and a share of the legislative assembly to be elected next year.

The Viet Cong are not interested in who writes the constitution. They think it won't last anyway.

As of today, the VC are covertly working to help elect a noted anti-Communist as president of South Viet Nam.

Vietnamese political friends tell me he has an excellent chance of being elected. He is a great man. He is a nationalist. He is loved by the people. But he is senile and easy to influence. He has followers who can be corrupted.

A Vietnamese political contact and this reporter were eating dinner in a Chinese restaurant. He leaned close and said: "You know the Viet Cong have approached my friend . . . or rather followers of my friend . . . and offered their secret support."

"They know he is not a Communist. But they know he follows easily what old friends tell him. They've gathered together some men who were with him during the war against the French. My friend doesn't know these men are Communists. He wouldn't believe me if I told him. He is so innocent. "At the proper time, if my friend is elected president, or becomes speaker of the assembly or takes on some other such high position, these men will approach him and be with him frequently and attempt to mold his opinions. They will be influential because they were with him in the old days during hard times. They will also have the money to influence some of his advisers."

"In any event, he's now old and weak and the Communists feel he will give the people poor government. This will play into their hands.

"He is my friend, but he is too old. All of the old group are too old. But the new young group is too inexperienced. This is our problem. So I will, I think, vote for my friend. There is no one else. Maybe we can outwit the Viet Cong."

Sources within the Viet Cong say their aim in the next election will be to secretly do what they can to see that three kinds of officials and legislators are elected:

The corrupt.
The inefficient and inept.
The neutralists.

The Viet Cong figure that corrupt or inept men will drive the people toward the Communists.

They think neutralists can be tricked into legal and political arrangements that will inevitably deliver South Viet Nam into Communist hands.

Q—Can crabs replace lost claws or legs?

A—Yes, although it takes considerable time, particularly in a full-grown crab.

Q—Are goldfish naturally gold in color?

A—No, in the wild state, goldfish are more or less dull silver and bronze in color. The gold color has been produced by careful breeding.

Expect True Picture of U. S. Finances After Nov. Election

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — After the November elections, the American people will be given the truth about the federal government's financial condition.

At present all the American people have been told officially is that the military appropriations for the current fiscal year are approximately $60 billion. But there soon will be a request for a supplementary appropriation of about $15 billion more, and this, in turn, will mean a budget deficit of $8.5 billion, as against the estimate of $1.8 billion made by President Johnson last January.

Two prominent members of the United States Senate have in the last few days called attention to the crisis that is building up in government finances. Senator Wallace F. Bennett, Republican of Utah, who is a ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, which will help write the tax bill, says the Vietnam war is costing $2 billion a month. He predicts that the administration will "hit the American people with about a $10 billion income-tax increase" next year.

Costing $2-Billion

Senator John Stennis, Democrat of Mississippi, chairman of the Senate Military Preparedness Subcommittee, said Sunday on the CBS television program Face The Nation that according to his calculation "the war is costing us at least $2-billion a month at the present rate." He added that this year's total of $24-billion for Viet Nam is $15.2 billion more than the $8.8 billion allowed for in the regular military budget.

Unofficial estimates made by economists indicate that the $15-billion supplemental war budget would not all be spent in the fiscal year which ends June 30, 1967, due to a lag in the deliveries of military equipment. Budget outlays for military purposes now look as if they will total $65.5-billion — at least $7-billion up from the January estimate. Receipts due to increased business activity will be higher, so the indicated result is a deficit of $8.5-billion for the current fiscal year. The deficit for the fiscal year that begins next July and ends June 30, 1968, is expected to be approximately $7-billion.

The cash budget is likewise in difficulty. Although the President's message last January declared that there would be a surplus of a half-billion dollars, the unofficial estimates for fiscal year 1967 indicate a cash deficit of at least $6.7-billion.

What do all these figures mean to the average citizen? He knows only that the government has been running steadily in the red. He reads that foreign experts are worried about America's financial condition, and that some of them are concerned about the lack of gold to back up the American dollar. But how will the situation be met?

The Administration, of course, is counting on a tax increase which will be submitted to Congress next year and will be effective as of January 1. No definite announcement has been made about the proposed tax increase because the Administration would prefer to have as little as possible said concerning it during the Congressional campaign.

Questions Influence

The big question, however, is what influence all this is going to have on money rates. If the government keeps on borrowing huge sums, the interest rates are likely to go up. Any upward turn will be reflected in higher and higher costs in many lines of business, which will inevitably lead to rises in prices — the customary result in a period of growing inflation.

Another big worry for business is what will happen if there is an early termination of the Viet Nam war — for instance, in the next few months. While there is no sign of this at present, the stock market is scrutinizing carefully every piece of news to see whether there is any indication of the end of hostilities, which would bring about for a while a rearrangement of government spending plans.

The present prospect is for a long war in Viet Nam, but the Administration is being urged to step up the bombing and force an early armistice. Thus far, little heed has been paid here to such advice, but it would not be surprising if the Administration were confronted with no other choice but to bring the war to a nearly conclusion by intensification of military power. For the total expense of the Viet Nam war will be far larger if it is dragged out over several years than if brought to a decisive point by the concentrated use of airpower aimed at all the production facilities in North Viet Nam. The financial situation of the United States government, therefore, is every day becoming more closely related to an early ending of the war in Viet Nam.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I must have missed a very exciting and interesting Common Council meeting, Oct. 4, 1966. No doubt history will record this meeting of having the aldermen, gentlemen of the Common Council raise their own salary from $1,000 to $1,500 per year, with 12 men being present, one alderman absent. They voted 8 to 4 for their own raises and several other officials. Four aldermen, John J. Naccarato (R), Peter J. Mancuso (D), Raymond J. Armarter (R) and John Machione (R) voted against raises for the aldermen and alderman-at-large.

Some of the reasons were of the four gentlemen who voted against it, that the pay boosts should be left for the public or taxpayers to decide by vote, and others also suggested the thought that the money should be available. Well, it's not an alderman year election. Alderman Armarter said, "We didn't take these jobs to aid ourselves, we took them to aid the city."

May I at this time quote from a saying I read somewhere, the author of which said something to the effect, "A politician thinks of the people he represents."

It is said that the acoustics in the Common Council Chamber are so poor that it is impossible to hear anything that takes place, but I am sure now the taxpayers heard that the aldermen received 50 per cent increase over last year's annual pay.

Little by little our population is moving from Kingston, and there are ever so many houses for sale and many empty apartments according to the signs on the properties. The stores are empty on the best streets, like Fair Street, Wall Street, North Front Street, and stay empty and here it is before the holiday season. Andy's Furniture is now moving from Rondout to Town of Ulster in Bob Steele's Building. They will no longer be taxpayers

Going back to early days, Attorney John J. Schick of Schick and Klein of 259 Fair Street, sent me a very interesting 1890 booklet called "The New York Ballot Reform Law" from which I recently quoted. This was given to various stores, I take it, who took full page advertisements and they in turn give it to their customers.

Explaining to the voters how to prepare their ballots the item reads in part: "The voter may write or paste upon his ballot the name of any person for whom he desires to vote for any office . . . Any name so written or pasted upon the ballot shall be deemed the choice of the voter; notwithstanding the name of another candidate for the same office may be upon the original ballot without being erased, covered or concealed by the writing or pasting."

They further write in this 1890 New York State booklet: "All pasters shall be of white paper and must be printed in type uniform with that required . . . upon the ballots and shall be printed in plain black ink. A paster shall be so attached to the ballot that when the ballot is folded no portion of such paster shall be visible. In preparing his ballot, any voter shall be at liberty to use or copy any unofficial sample ballot to assist him in preparing the official ballot. After preparing his ballot, and before leaving the voting booth, the voter shall fold all the ballots delivered in the middle lengthwise and then crosswise, in such a way that the contents shall be concealed and the stubs can be removed without exposing the contents." I see they had more freedom of choice in 1890 and also were allowed to stay in the booth up to ten minutes. It was quite a complicated affair to vote in those days. Everyone who has a right to vote in 1966 should register.

Education Center In Paltz Makes Quarterly Report

The Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center and the Legal Applicant for ESEA Title III Funds, Ulster County BOCES has just forwarded its quarterly report to the Title III Offices, the University of the State of New York, State Education Department. In addition, this printed report was communicated to all public and non-public schools within the region.

Funded on June 1, 1966, the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, consisting of 5½ counties, initiated its administrative organization at the Ulster County BOCES, Henry Hopper, superintendent, with a regional director, Dr. Raymond G. Kenyon, two part-time assistant directors, and supportive secretarial services.

From June 15 to July 1, a talented art program (TAP) (planning-pilot) was implemented by J. Terry Carlisle. Artists-craftsmen were retained to conduct student workshops; materials for workshops were ordered, obtained, and delivered to the participating craftsmen's studios; students selected for the program were contacted by telephone and confirmed by mail; two and three county transportation negotiated; insurance policy for entire project completed; and on July 5, 1966, 40 students arrived at the ceramics, weaving, sculpture and leather TAP studios for daily four-hour workshops, five days a week for four weeks. The second planning-pilot workshops began Aug. 1, 1966 with 60 students from the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, and Orange participating in ceramics, weaving, sculpture, leather, metalwork and jewelry, and photography studios. A regionally developed student evaluation form was designed and administered jointly every two weeks during each workshop by the Regional Administrative Assistant and individual craft consultants.

LBJ Aid Visits

On Sept. 10, Roger Stevens, chairman, President's Council on the Arts and Humanities, introduced and reviewed a 14-day show of the students' craft work at the Kleinert Gallery, Woodstock. Plans for one week gallery showings of the TAP student exhibit in local participating schools, colleges, and other agencies have been formulated.

Projects in Imaginative Nature Education (PINE) was contracted by the Center to the Mid-Hudson Catskills Museum. On July 21, the museum appointed a program director, director of conservation education, outdoor laboratories consultants, and secretarial services as a task force to develop the objectives of PINE. Several nature-conservation trails have already been developed in collaboration with the Audubon Society and used by several groups including students from regional summer Head Start programs. Simultaneously, during this period of time, the PINE staff planned with regional district superintendents innovative in-school teacher conservation workshops. These workshops entitled "PINE for a Day" have been announced to 5,000 elementary school teachers.

Set Up 4 Workshops

Four natural science workshops were developed in cooperation with Ulster County BOCES. Two similar county workshops were planned for Dutchess and Orange Counties. Planning, organization and development of two self-guided automobile geology tours, one for Ulster County, the other for Orange County. Deadline date for publication of these self-guided automobile tours has been set for November. The "task force" has developed a series of newsletters for classroom teachers.

Included in this series are selected reprints of articles of national significance along with regionally developed conservation resources materials for immediate classroom use. A representative regional planning committee for Project Exemplary Consortia (PEC) is in the process of development. This consortia of natural science, historical museums and schools will develop supplementary enrichment social studies and science materials for classroom use. They are planning to utilize existing school-museum personnel, facilities, and resources that are not presently used with optimum educational cultural results.

List Publications

The Regional Center contracted with the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center's Talented Art Program, Have You Read the History of the Mid-Hudson Regional Supplementary Educational Center, planned for three phases of dissemination: Phase I, Dissemination of Regional Proposals; Phase II, Reporting Current Progress of Operable Projects; and Phase III, Evaluation of Projects.

In summary, this report reflects some of the sentiments of John W. Gardner, secretary of HEW, in his message to the 1965 White House Conference when he stresses "The toughest question facing us now, is whether we have the courage and flexibility and imagination to innovate as the times require."

HISTORIC RITES AT ESOPUS — Bishop James E. McManus was installed as first episcopal vicar of Ulster and Sullivan Counties in colorful ceremonies Wednesday at noon at Mt. ## LeFevre, Former House Member, Endorses Fish

NEW PALTZ—Former Republican Congressman, Jay LeFevre of New Paltz, this week issued a statement strongly backing Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican candidate for Congressman, in his bid to unseat the Democratic incumbent.

The former congressman, in an open letter to the Republican candidate, stated:

"I want you to know that I will be delighted to do everything in my power politically to help in electing you to Congress to represent the people of the 28th Congressional District."

"As a native of Ulster County, I had the honor to represent this Congressional District for eight years. I am convinced that you will be elected not only because of your background and the tradition you represent, but because of your political experience, campaign ability, high character and integrity, backed by the energy of youth to represent the best interests of all the people of the 28th District."

"Your opponent in this election was one of a handful of members of Congress who voted against the Un-American Activties Committee. Over the years this committee has done so much to expose the aims, purposes and objectives of the Communists throughout our country."

Expect House to Vote Against Campaign Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted for federal financing of future presidential campaigns but the House is likely to reject the actions as an empty gesture.

A plan worked out by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., would permit each taxpayer to contribute $1 a year by stating on his tax return he wanted $1 of his tax money to go for this purpose. The proposal won 39-33 support from the Senate Wednesday.

Under the Long proposal, each party could dip equally into a pot with a lid linked to the total of ballots cast in the previous presidential election and on the basis of $1 a vote. Presumably this would make $70 million available, to be shared on an equal basis, for financing the major party campaigns in 1968.

that it is difficult to believe a representative from this area would go on record to wreck this committee.

"I do not believe the present Democratic incumbent represents the great rank and file opinion of the Democratic Party in this district by his vote. In my day, this congressional district was one of the most loyal and patriotic districts in the country, and I firmly believe it remains so today."

"The Democrats have many issues to face this fall, such as inflation, the high cost of living and taxation. There is work ahead for every sound thinking American and as I stated earlier in this letter, I will be only too happy to cooperate wherever I might be helpful."

"My kindest regards and best wishes."

Poughkeepsie Gets Loan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Poughkeepsie, N.Y., is the recipient of a $25,000 federal loan to plan for 200 low-rent homes.

The Housing and Urban Development Department awarded the funds to the Hudson River city Wednesday.

Expect New State Constitution to Be Large Volume

S. James Matthews, Republican candidate for delegate to the Constitutional Convention, predicted that unless a major revision is made at next year's Constitutional Convention, that the state's charter could be the size of a modern novel by 1980.

Speaking at Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, the Kingston attorney traced the history of the constitution from its original length of 3,000 words in 1777 to its present size of over 45,000 words. "In the 28 years since the adoption of our last Constitution in 1938, we in New York have added 86 amendments to our state charter and this does not count the 11 proposed amendments to be voted upon this fall," he explained.

Discussing further what he termed "our runaway constitution" Matthews cited the fact that "as late as 1894 our constitution contained 18,000 words. By 1938, the verbiage had increased to 28,000 and over 17,000 more words have been added in the last three decades."

The Republican candidate went further and stated "Unless there is a voter rebellion or unless the Constitutional Convention next April undertakes a major revision of the basic document by the year 1980, our constitution will contain 70,000 words — the length of a modern novel."

"Clearly the call in New York State must be for a decisive constitutional revision and simplification," continued Matthews. "Only by a return to a basic

Paltz Woman Injured In Gardiner Mishap

A 19-year-old New Paltz woman was injured at 1:45 a. m. today when her car went out of control on Albany Post Road. Gardiner and crashed into a utility pole.

Trooper Jerry Henne of Highland said Patricia Shelby, of 12 Orchard Lane, New Paltz, was driving south on the highway when her 1962 convertible went out of control after hitting a dip in the pavement. The vehicle went off the right shoulder and hit the pole.

The injured woman was taken to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh by Shawangunk Valley Fire Department ambulance. She was treated for lacerations of the face and shoulder and admitted for further observation and treatment, according to a report of the investigating officers, Troopers G. W. Zappolo and J. F. Czaplinski.

Troopers said the woman's head hit the windshield shattering the glass.

charter in the classic tradition of the federal document can we be assured of a charter that will meet the needs of the 21st Century."

Explaining to the Vassar students the reason for such a growth in the language of the constitution, he indicated that both the legislative method of amendment and the convention form in the past had both directed attention at broad, on a limited scope adopted to meet specific problems. "This results in the addition of new material but almost never pruning or subtracting old matter," Matthews concluded.

Waras Socialized Medicine Could Be Medicaid Result

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unless the federal government limits its participation in state Medicaid plans, a House Rules Committee witness says, "the back door is wide open to completely socialized medicine."

Rep. John W. Brynes, R-Wis., said Wednesday, presumably in a reference to the New York State, that the eligibility rules of one state could bring as much as 44 per cent of the population under the plan.

"If we don't do something, this medically indigent program could go through the roof," he told the hearing.

Proponents of tightening federal aid testified that federal participation could lead to a $3-billion annual drain on the national treasury.

They maintained that limitations could keep the federal share to a maximum between $1.5 and $2 billion.

The Rules Committee heard the contentions and then cleared the way for a vote next week on the measure.

The bill would limit the amount of federal financial aid to state programs for persons who are not receiving welfare aid but who are deemed to need financial help to pay medical bills.

The proposed limitations would have no effect on Medicare, the federal health program for those 65 or older. Instead, the bill specifies that the federal government will not match funds for medical aid to able-bodied adults under 65 who are not welfare recipients.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee said the pending legislation does not establish specific limits on individual eligibility.

"We avoided studiously telling the states what a constitutionally sound program should be," he said. "But we want to be realistic. We don't want the states to place on themselves and on the federal government a burden that could not be borne."

Congressional fears of a drain on the treasury were intensified this spring by a New York State law that set up a liberal Medicaid program.

A family of four, for example, with one wage-earner and an annual income of $6,000 would be eligible for Medicaid, after certain deductions, under the New York plan.

SUNY Approves Grego

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dr. Richard F. Grego's appointment as president of Sullivan County Community College was approved today by the State University Board of Trustees.

Grego, who has been serving as dean-in-charge of the college since Aug. 1, was recommended for the presidency by the college's board of trustees to succeed Dr. Richard K. Greenfield, who resigned. The post pays $21,500 a year.

Van Bramer Sees Welfare as Issue At Convention

Glenn C. Van Bramer, Democratic candidate for the Constitutional Convention from Dutchess and Ulster Counties, today expressed concern over the rising number of "second and third generation welfare families" in Ulster County. He made the statement after a tour yesterday of Kingston.

Mr. Van Bramer said that, "almost every man I spoke with wanted to go to work, but didn't have a marketable trade or ability." He pointed out that welfare would surely be an issue at the Constitutional Convention because it is a Constitutional provision that enables the State and its subdivisions to provide aid, care and support for the needy.

"I'm a practical man," Van Bramer said. "I know that there is little I can do at the Convention to solve these men's immediate problems, but there is one heck of a job that can be done to prevent their children from being unsuited to our changing society's needs."

Last week, Van Bramer proposed ending the present Constitutional hindrances on education by removing debt and taxing limitations on urban educational systems.

Van Bramer is campaigning for the Constitutional Convention post in the City of Kingston, Saugerties, Ellenville, and Highland all this week. "This is the most important election in 1966," he concluded, "and I hope to tell as many people as possible between now and November 8."

Study Viet Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House subcommittee expressed strong reservations today about the efforts of the government to control inflation in South Vietnam within a free enterprise economic system.

"It is highly improbable that a 'free enterprise' system which is in any sense comparable to the West could exist in Vietnam under present circumstances," the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee said in a 91-page report on the United States aid program in Vietnam.

The report noted "corrective action" is being undertaken to give the Agency for International Development greater control over the Commodity Import Program, under which $1.7 billion in consumer goods has been pumped into Vietnam since 1955.

No Coastline

Bolivia has no coastline. A disastrous war with Chile stripped the country of its province on the Pacific seaboard, together with the port of Antofagasta.

Gets Strike Approval

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The second of four unions deadlocked in contract talks with Westinghouse Electric Corp. has received strike authorization.

Three of the unions are free to strike on midnight Friday.

Cal Hayes, vice president of the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, said the union members voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to give union leaders strike authorization if the bargainers were unable to reach a settlement.

Profit Taking Trims Advance

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market staged a brisk advance in opening trading today but later the advance was trimmed by some profit-taking.

Trading was heavy.

At 11:30 a.m., the Dow Jones 30-stock industrial average was up 3.28 points at 781.45. It had climbed to an advance of 7.18 points a half hour after the market's opening.

The rally stretched the market's advance into its fourth straight day after the market Wednesday made its greatest single day's gain in three years.

Five Are Killed As Troop Plane Crashes in Texas

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — A troop carrier plane from Dyess Air Force Base here crashed and burned in a brushy pasture Wednesday night, and five of the six crewmen were killed.

A passing truck driver, Carroll Brezner, pulled the lone survivor from the wreckage on the 6666 Ranch 75 miles northwest of Abilene. The injured airman was reported in critical condition.

Sheriff E. W. Hollar of Guthrie, nine miles north of where the C130 Hercules transport went down, said persons reaching the scene first found two bodies.

A ground party from Dyess located the other three bodies in a search through thick mesquite brush near U.S. 83.

Authorities said the deaths were the first in the 516th Troop Carrier Wing since it was formed at Dyess in 1958.

2,000 ROKs Arrive

The last 2,000 of South Korea's White Horse Division arrived in South Vietnam today, swelling the Korean force to 45,000 men, the second largest of the six foreign contingents fighting alongside the South Vietnamese.

A record number of captives in Operation Irving pushed enemy losses last week to 2,129 while allied combat dead or missing increased by a third to 314, the allied commands reported. The U.S. Command said 91 Americans were killed, 604 were wounded and 17 were missing, compared with 99 dead, 642 wounded and 12 missing the week before.

B52s Strike Again

Only a few hours before the secretary viewed the demilitarized zone from his helicopter, B52s flew in from Guam to bomb the much-battered buffer area separating North and South Vietnam.

The eight-engine bombers, making their 15th raid on the demilitarized zone since July 30, unloaded tons of explosives on North Vietnamese troop concentrations, bivouacs and storage areas in the southern half of the six-mile-wide zone, the U.S. Command said.

The plane lost over the north was a Navy A4 Skyhawk from the carrier Oriskany. It was the 388th plane reported lost over North Vietnam.

Ration Coffee in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cubans, who like their coffee black and sweet, and lots of it — have been told they must go through another year of rationing.

Havana Radio said Wednesday coffee rationing will end in 1967.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said coffee production will increase to about 30 million pounds this year. It added that about 20 million pounds will have to be exported because of the country's need for agricultural equipment, fertilizer and

Use of Neutral Beams May Be Cure for Cancer

LONDON (AP) — A group of British scientists is working on a new radiation machine, using neutral beams, which a spokesman said today "looks like a 50-50 bet" to cure cancer.

Scientists at the electronics research laboratory at Baldock in Hertfordshire, say they believe their idea will prove more effective than X rays in treating many forms of cancer.

James D. L. H. Wood, heading the group, said: "We cannot say definitely whether it will be a cure yet, but it looks like a 50-50 bet. It will take about three years to develop a neutron generating tube with the high-power output required."

The scientists expect to have a machine compact enough to install in an ordinary radiotherapy treatment room.

Wood said they are using nuclear reaction characteristics of hydrogen bombs to attack cancer with beams of high-energy neutrons.

The beams are produced in a vacuum tube, part metal and part glass. The neutron generator will be encased in 14 inches of steel with a small opening for the neutron beam.

Wood said high-power output was needed so treatment could be cut to a few minutes, the maximum time tolerable to a conscious patient.

Viet Progress

Viet Cong no respite from bombing attacks. Three American planes were reported shot down, one in the North and two in the South.

Satisfactory Progress

McNamara, wearing khaki uniform-type shirts and pants during his visits to the field, said "military operations have progressed very satisfactorily during the past year."

Pressure on the Viet Cong has been greater than anticipated, he said. He explained that this pressure referred to casualties dealt to the enemy and their supplies, and their effect on Communist morale.

"Progress in the South Vietnamese economy has been more than we would have forecast a year ago," he added.

McNamara noted the effect on the economy of an influx of military forces and aid. He said the government of South Vietnam had shown great political courage in devaluing the Vietnamese currency last June and that inflation has been stemmed.

The defense secretary said the South Vietnamese program of pacification, which now goes under the name of revolutionary development, has proved sound. He said the leadership of this program is able but progress has been slow indeed.

McNamara lauded the "individual and collective" actions of U.S. forces serving in Vietnam.

Morale, Actions Impressive

"I never come here without being impressed by the morale and performance of U.S. troops," he said.

"I saw nothing indicating substantial changes in the rate of operations or the deployment of U.S. forces in the months ahead," the secretary said.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach, the former attorney general who accompanied McNamara, said his visit has given him a "much better picture of the situation here."

He also praised the performance of American servicemen and said he was "moved by the determination of the South Vietnamese to see this thing through."

$600 Reported By Woodstock 3

A total of over $600 was reported in the 1966 Fund Drive for Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill at a recent meeting of the company. It was pointed out by the chairman of the drive that various firemen had not completed their coverage of the area and the drive would be continued until the entire community had been visited.

Boy Scout Troop Chairman Paul Shultis reported that an attempt to obtain a scoutmaster for Boy Scout Troop 62 sponsored by the fire company had met with no success—"that not one parent had attended a parent's meeting called to discuss the matter." Since no leadership was available, the fire company decided that the Boy Scout Troop would not be re-registered in November if leadership at that time was still lacking.

An invitation to all active firemen and their families to attend another in the series of family covered dish suppers sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Company No. 3, was received for Saturday Oct. 22.

Wire and connectors for the new generator were purchased by the company from funds donated by the Ladies Auxiliary, according to President Walter Stone.

Explains Activities

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson of the Woodstock Fire Department was present at the meeting and explained activities in the department, including request for up to date inventories of all companies, attendance at the four company meetings, the promotion of a first aid course, and directions in the use of the fire alarm system. He reported three fire calls for the preceding month, including the discovery of a fire which destroyed a house without the knowledge of the fire company.

Station check for the month of October were assigned to firemen D. Eighmey, G. Walker, H. Eighmey, P. Eighmey, and J. Flanagan. Drills were scheduled for the second Sunday and the last Wednesday, under the direction of Captain Alfred Osterlander.

All youngsters of grades 6-8 are invited to join this Youth Choir which will be under the direction of Miss Carolyn Schrier, of Woodstock. Children from grades 2-5 who are interested in singing in the Junior Choir should be at rehearsals Thursdays at 6:45 p. m. Children's Choir is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Brooks and Mrs. Roy Irving.

The L & M Fellowship (Lutheran and Methodist Senior High) will meet this Sunday at 5 p. m. in the Overlook Church Hall. Mr. and Mrs. David Sullivan are counselors for this group. All Senior Highs are welcome. The Junior High Group (Lutheran and Methodist) will meet at 5 p. m. in Christ Lutheran Church Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson are the counselors for this group. Officers of the Junior body are Diane Studier, president; Debbie Jameson, vice president; Verna Quednau, secretary; Keith Anthony, treasurer; Michael Tenner, social secretary. This group meets in the Fellowship Room of the Church at 7 p. m. Friday, with 4th, 5th, & 6th graders as members. Under the sponsorship of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Anthony a program is held of Bible Study and the study of the concerns of youth with emphasis on the development of the capacity to participate in church and community life as vocal and concerned persons.

Senior Christian Endeavor Officers are Gary Murdoch, president; Robert Klementis, vice president; Sharon Wolven, secretary; William Jameson, treasurer. This group meets Sunday at 7:30 p. m., with song session and program centered on church and community concerns as they involve the lives of growing youth. This group is comprised of Junior and Senior High School youth and older and the counselors are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Haessler.

Both of these bodies are open to young people of the community at large as well as those of the Reformed Church, and the program of study, social activities, and worship for the coming season promises to provide opportunity for growth, social fellowship, and an opportunity to share in the broader inter-community, inter-church, and inter-racial work of the Christian Endeavor. A regional conference of the State Christian Endeavor will be held in Woodstock Reformed Church Oct. 29.

Must Find Other Fund Source For Social Security Boost

By EDMOND LE BRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal to increase Social Security benefits by some $2.2 billion a year has revived talk that some source besides the payroll tax on employers and employees must be found to help finance the massive old age, disability retirement and health care system.

The obvious candidate is the general treasury.

Is Unprecedented
Dipping into the treasury for any substantial part of Social Security funds would be almost unprecedented. With minor exceptions, the programs have been financed throughout their 30-year life by a payroll tax levied in equal proportion on employers and employees.

But there is a growing feeling that there is a limit on the amount of tax that payrolls can bear without provoking both business and general voter resistance. And the Social Security Administration is on record as recognizing and even sharing this feeling to some extent.

The tax, increased sharply when medicare was instituted, now is 4.2 per cent each on employer and employee. It is calculated on each worker's wages up to $6,600, a maximum tax of $277.20 on each. On Jan. 1 the rate goes up to 4.4 per cent and then by stages to 5.65 per cent by 1967.

Taken for Granted
Moreover, while the law does not now provide it, it is taken for granted that the wage base in time will be increased, too.

Payrolls also are taxed, on a scale varying from state to state, to pay for the unemployment compensation system. This tax is on the employer only.

Those who argue against further payroll tax increases have more to their case than understandable reluctance to be taxed. They say the Social Security payroll tax is a regressive tax: a man who earns no more than $6,600 pays it on his full income, while one who earns more pays on only a portion.

Last May 11, in testimony not much noted at the time, Social Security Commissioner Robert M. Ball told a Senate-Economic subcommittee that the administration was studying Social Security benefit increases but that the problem of financing them was "the big inhibiting factor."

He went on, "We have come to a place where further increases in the contribution rates run into increasing resistance. Personally, I believe that they could be somewhat higher than they are. But how much is a question."

Need General Revenue

"I would like to take the opportunity to say that we will also give, and are giving, serious consideration to whether the Social Security system might in part also have a general revenue contribution which has a generally more progressive base than the present method of financing, and perhaps a combination of present financing and general revenues would be better."

Administration sources have estimated that about three-quarters of the proposed $2.2 billion additional benefits could be financed by present Social Security revenues — an estimate promptly challenged by Republicans.

But even if it proves accurate, there would remain more than $500 million to be financed. It would not be surprising if Social Security officials, and many members of Congress, were to ponder whether this is perhaps the time to shift some of the burden to the general revenues.

Chamber Backs Proposition No. 1

The Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce today expressed its feeling of the vital necessity for voting "yes" to Proposition 1 on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

President George Svirsky told news media that the Kingston area has been specifically mentioned in the proposals for the $200,000,000 which will build recreational facilities and provide needed funds for already existing local points of interest.

Proposition was passed overwhelmingly by the Legislature, and will require no new taxes, President Svirsky noted. Funds for this are to be paid by existing taxes on motor boat fuel, and by fees for recreational facilities.

Past bond issues approved by the voters have already provided the land for recreation, but the parks and facilities development can only be satisfied by the passage of this proposition.

The Board of Directors of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, as well as the Tourist and Convention Committee of the Chamber are completely unanimous in their appeal to the voters that this is a strong "must" to benefit the area.

President Svirsky urges all persons who may be interested in further details to contact the Chamber office or any Chamber member for further specifics regarding the importance of supporting this proposal.

Black Power Is Topic

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "Black power" is among the topics to be discussed today as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and top members of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference begin a two-day meeting.

King, who said at a Philadelphia rally Sunday that he is "sick of violence," has indicated the meeting with his advisers may determine whether he will repudiate black power groups.

King said he hoped to determine whether the SCLC and the black power organizations are so opposed that they cannot work together. He also said the meeting will determine the direction of SCLC programs.

Carey Reported Fair After Tuesday Seizure

Former Kingston Mayor Eugene B. Carey was reported in fair condition at Benedictine Hospital today after being stricken at his home at 143 Harding Avenue Tuesday.

Carey was taken to Benedictine Tuesday at 12:25 p. m. by Fatum's Ambulance Service. He was administered oxygen on the way to the hospital.

The Rev. Mr. Cobb was born in Syracuse where he received his public school education and was graduated from Syracuse University in 1949. He received his divinity degree from Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in 1952 and a masters degree in History from St. Bonaventure University in 1956. In 1962 he pursued Anglican studies at the Episcopal Theological School.

Pastorates include Chili Center and Clifton Baptist Churches in New York State, Annisquam Village Parish in Gloucester, Mass., and First Congregational Church, Little Valley. In 1961, the Rev. Mr. Cobb joined the staff of Trinity Episcopal Church, Concord, Mass., coming the following year to Trinity Episcopal Church, Watertown, N. Y.

For the 1965-66 school year, the Rev. Mr. Cobb served as substitute Episcopal Chaplain at Syracuse University. He has served widely in denominational and community enterprises with emphasis on chaplaincies at the Cattaraugus County Jail and at Jefferson Community College before coming to the Episcopal Chaplaincy at Syracuse University.

The director of the Division of Life and Work is a member of Rotary International, the American Historical Association, and the American Society of Church History. He is also a 32nd degree Mason and a veteran of World War II.

The Rev. Mr. Cobb married the former Faith E. Maltby of Corning in 1951. The Cobbs have two children—Robert Alan and Deborah Lynn.

Following the dinner, Congressman Resnick will speak and answer questions from the group. All area residents may attend and hear their Congressman explain his views on the current issues.

Phoenicia Report Possible Adult Education Classes for Area

At their Oct. 5 meeting, the executive committee of the Phoenicia Parent-Teacher Association indicated enthusiasm at the prospects of adult education classes at the Phoenicia Elementary School.

Mrs. Jane Rossitz, P.T.A. president, and Joseph Eisenbeil program chairman, reporting on a recent meeting held at the school with Dr. George Sullivan, Ontario superintendent of schools; Carl Brown, Ontario High School vice principal, and Robert Maroney, Phoenicia Elementary School principal, said that the school officials indicated adult education classes certainly could be held at Phoenicia provided that the requisition of at least 10 people to a class was met.

If the necessary 10 persons sign up for a class, the school system will then find an instructor. There is a fee for most classes. However, some classes such as Americanization and high school equivalency are free.

Among the tentative courses discussed by the executive committee as perhaps being best suited to the area were Americanization, high school equivalency, drivers education, beginners' shorthand, physical education for women, modern elementary mathematics for parents, and dramatic. Again, other classes can be offered, provided necessary equipment is available, if ten or more people sign up.

Those interested may call Mrs. Rossitz, Eisenbeil, Mrs. Lindsay Hoyt or the Phoenicia School.

Success of Another Serves To Spur Despairing Writers

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Beset with formula writing and beleaguered by insensitive producers and directors, the film writer sometimes suffers fits of despair. At such times he can refresh his spirit by pondering
the example of Ernest Lehman.
Lehman has made it.

He composed the script for the financially most successful movie of all time, "The Sound of Music." In a dazzling change of pace after that warm-hearted
— some critics said saccharine —
musical, he wrote the film version of the corrosive drama,
"Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?" and produced the film as well.

Dominated Awards
Just as "The Sound of Music" dominated the 1965 Academy awards race, "Virginia Woolf" is favored for this year. And — adding further satisfaction to his fellow writers — Lehman shares in the profits of both.

Lehman is the prime example of the new breed of screen writer. He is not a slick salesman like Sammy Glick. Budd Schul-berg's hero of "What Makes Sammy Run?" nor does he have the flamboyance of a Ben Hecht. Rather he has ascended to top rank as a film creator by his own quiet competence.

He now is writing — and producing another prized property, "Hello, Dolly." He operates from a tastefully decorated three-room suite at 20th Century-Fox, and he has his own bathroom, a status symbol in the Hollywood scheme of things.

Once a copy editor of the Wall Street Journal, Lehman became a free-lance writer of fiction and articles in his native New York.
Two of his novelettes attracted studio interest, and Paramount offered a contract of $600 a week.

Loanout to MGM
His first assignment was a loanout to MGM for "Executive Suite." Although Paramount dropped his option, he returned there for "Sabrina" with Billy Wilder. "The King and I" and
"Somebody Up There Likes Me"
followed. Then he met his crisis with the film version of his
"Sweet Smell of Success."

"I had expected to direct the picture, but United Artists decided it was too risky. I ended up with a tense colon, and my doctor advised me to get off the picture and take a rest," he said.

"I went to Tahiti, feeling romanticly bitter about being driven away from my home, my family, my job. I blamed the world for not accepting me unless I was successful. But as I walked the beaches, I realized
the world wasn't at fault."

He returned after three weeks to write his first original screen play, "North by Northwest."
Lehman, 49, is compactly built with the tanned, well-tailored appearance that bespeaks Hollywood success. Yet he retains the same wife with whom he arrived here — they have two sons — and they have lived in the same Brentwood house for a dozen years.

Today's Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In an economy almost neurotically looking for signs, portents and assurances of the future, some of the pessimism seems to be dissipating into hope. Is it a trend?

For months we have been belabored by bleak reports of rising prices and troubles within the automobile industry and threats to business profits and an escalating war in Viet Nam.

Action Is Better
A psychologist will tell you that action is often better than inactivity. And for a long while we've just been sitting and fretting. Have we had enough of it?

The action began where many economists said it should, with a presidential decision to use taxes as a counterinflationary weapon. Wisely or unwisely, the investment tax credit for business is to be suspended.

Assurances once again emanated from Washington. President Johnson said he foresaw a strong economy in 1967. And his aides echoed the assurance.

Up from the grass roots came more activity. In California, homeowners turned back an increase in mortgage rates. In Denver, Colo., and Phoenix, Ariz., angry housewives threatened to boycott food stores. And in Chicago, the supermarkets marked down prices as happily
as if profits were made that way.

Tension Lessens
Tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union do not seem as bad as they were.

Talks in Washington between the two countries show some hope of a treaty to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons.
Unemployment dipped to 3.8
per cent, one of the lowest rates we've ever had. A low unemployment rate is often cited as an inflationary pressure. But in releasing the latest report the commissioner of labor statistics, Arthur Ross, noted that the shortage of skilled workers seems to have eased.

Retail sales dropped in September after rising for three straight months. This can be viewed in many ways, but it does not indicate the consumer might be putting less demand on the economy — and, when in-

Praises Court Ban
DURHAM, N.C. (AP) —
James A. Pike, auxiliary episcopal bishop of California, Tuesday praised the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling banning compulsory prayers in public schools, and says he now believes Judeo Christian literature should be taught in the schools.

The controversial Pike,
speaking at Duke University, said the dictum of the high court was good because he is opposed to a "perfunctory moment of prayer and indiscriminate reading of the Bible."

Bid Up to $11,050
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The State of Arizona auctioned off 23 acres of land recently appraised at $2,333. An unexpected bidding contest ensued, and John Chudy of Gila Bend bought the land for $11,050.

flation threatens, that can be wholesome.
The wholesale price index, which generally forecasts the trend of consumer prices, was stable in September. More importantly, a six-month advance was ended. And in some segments, the index actually declined.

Back to Business
The automotive industry is back to its business of making cars after retreating from congressional safety hearings in Washington with a few dents in its fenders.

Lynn Townsend, Chrysler
president, told some sales executives here that the debut of 1967 models was one of the most successful in years. Next year Townsend forecast, will be at least as good as 1966.

Despite some dire forecasts — and a few actual reports — of dwindling corporate profits, Ru-dio Corp. of America and International Business Machines said they sold more goods and earned more money than ever before.

As forecasters of business or the economy, these facts are relatively meaningless until they become part of a trend in time or numbers. In the present economy, however, "uncertainty" is a key word, and any hint of a trend is broadcast like a hot tip at the race track.

The volatile stock market reflects this. For months the market has been sinking away, clutching for signs and finding only a flotsam of hope. But now it, too, has shown some positive action and moved up a couple of days anyway.

Aid Lung Disease Victims in New State Program

NEW YORK (AP) — Victims of chronic respiratory diseases such as chronic bronchitis, emphysema and asthma will be aided under a new state program announced today by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. The governor estimated that 10,000 state residents are victims of such chronic diseases in a speech for a Rotary Club luncheon at the Hotel Commodore.

"These are deadly diseases," Rockefeller said. "For every five people they kill directly, they help kill another eight."

Under the program special treatment units will be established at the state's three tuberculosis hospitals and research will be conducted at two teaching medical centers, he said.

"The new program complements our existing programs on tuberculosis, lung cancer and other pulmonary ailments as well as our fight on air pollution, a major contributor to respiratory disease," Rockefeller said.

Dr. Hollis S. Ingraham, state health commissioner, will administer the new program, he said.

The three hospitals involved are: Homer Folks Tuberculosis Hospital, Oneonta, Otsego County; Mount Morris Tuberculosis Hospital, Mount Morris, Livingston County; and Ray Brook Tuberculosis Hospital, Ray Brook, Essex County.

No estimate of the cost of the program was given by Rockefeller.

Germ-Free Romeo Simply Unkissable

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have met a remarkable man who does not believe in the delightful practice of kissing for the simple reason that it spreads germs. He is sincere and practices his belief to the fullest. How can a normal man resist the urge to kiss someone he care deeply for? Surely there must be some temptation!

Or do you think this is a characteristic to be admired. A victory of intelligence over the emotions? Personally I would risk a few delicious germs, but he doesn't feel that way about it. What do you think? Sign this:

KISSABLE BUT UNKISSED

DEAR UNKISSED: I'm all for a clean relationship but this is ridiculous. A kissless romance, as I see it, is not likely to hatch into anything as intimate as marriage, where it's share and share alike, germs included. So if that's what you had in mind, kiss this germ-conscious Romeo good-by. And be careful not to breathe on him.

DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law problem is different from any I have ever seen in your column. She can't do enough for me. When I call and invite her and dad here for dinner she says, "It's too much work for you—come here instead." And she won't take no for an answer. So we go, and she always sends us home loaded with tasty leftovers. She is constantly sending my husband and me gifts.

She sounds perfect, doesn't she? Well, she's far from it. On two occasions I've bought her gifts. She returned both of them and credited them to MY account. She's the most ungracious guest I have ever known.

When I finally got her to come over one afternoon, she sat with her coat on and stayed only a few minutes. She wouldn't even have a cup of tea because she didn't want to put me to any trouble.

DEAR BEWILDERED: She means well, but she has never learned how to accept anything graciously. The burden of gratitude is too heavy for her to say "thank you." I doubt if she'll ever change. So try to understand her.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who would entertain her sewing club by reading them the letters her son received from his girl friend. The son was away fighting a war at the time, and the girl friend happened to be MY DAUGHTER!

When I heard this, my blood just boiled. It was back in 1943, but every time I think about it I get upset all over again.

My daughter is married and I don't know what happened to the boy, but I still think that mother had her nerve. Every time I get the strongest urge to call this woman up and give her a piece of my mind. She is STILL MAD.

DEAR STILL: No.

Man Is Serious, Women Hurt in Dutches Crashes

A Dutchess County man was seriously injured and two young women were injured Wednesday in separate traffic accidents investigated by Rhinebeck-Hyde Park state troopers.

Charles Kendrick, 52, of Rhinebeck suffered fractured ribs and a possible skull fracture and other injuries at 5:50 p. m. when his car crashed into a parked tractor-trailer on Route 9 near Hyde Park.

Kendrick was taken to Northern Dutchess Hospital and later transferred to Vassar Hospital in Poughkeepsie.

According to Trooper William H. Anagnos, a tractor-trailer owned by Mathis Shaffer Jr., 44, of Red Hook, was stopped on the highway where the trailer had been loaded with a bulldozer. Kendrick was traveling north on Route 9 when the mishap occurred.

At 7 p. m. yesterday, cars driven by Sandra Ackert, 21, of Staatsburg, and Ona Barton, 19, of Salt Point, were involved in a head-on collision on Reservoir Road, Town of Hyde Park. Trooper Anagnos said the vehicles were traveling in opposite directions when they collided on a curve.

Both drivers were treated at the hospital in Rhinebeck for lacerations of the lips.

Nabors Variety

Voice and Idiot Manner Are Only Minuses for Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Nabors and assorted talented friends stuffed a lot of good entertainment into the comedian's CBS variety special Wednesday night.

In the course of "Friends and Nabors," Andy Griffith told one of his amusing stories — the plot of "La Traviata," which led into a bright musical sketch. Tennessee Ernie Ford and Andy, playing a pair of hillbillies, sat around scratching and explained the television rating system with clarity and humor. The musical numbers — from those of Shirley Jones and opera star Marilyn Horne to Nabors' own impressive solos — were the highlights of the hour.

The star of "Gomer Pyle" clowning, sang and even essayed a dance number with Miss Jones doing a passable imitation of Ginger Rogers while Jim, in top hat and tails, faked his way through something vaguely resembling a Fred Astaire number.

It was a gay, happy hour which could have been more enjoyable if Nabors had abandoned that high "Gomer Pyle" voice and idiot manner just for one evening. He didn't need it at all.

"Olympus 7-0000," the original musical comedy that was Wednesday night's offering on ABC's "Stage 67," did not fare as well. The show was written by Jerome Chodorov with words and music by Richard Adler of "Damn Yankee," but it must have been one of their off days. The music was forgettable, the comedy was not funny and the lines were predictable.

CBS announced Wednesday the impending death of one show and the birth of a couple of new ones.

"The Jean Arthur Show," a major disappointment of the new season, will disappear after its Dec. 5 performance. "To Tell the Truth," now a Sunday afternoon feature, will move back into the nighttime schedule as its replacement.

Carol Burnett has signed with the network to return to weekly TV with a variety show next season. That makes two variety shows on the network's drawing board. Earlier it signed the Smothers Brothers for a variety show and it may turn up as a mid-season replacement, perhaps for the Garry Moore Show which is in ratings trouble.

Population density is a major problem in Japan. Its severity is heightened because only 15 per cent of the land is arable. Japan is smaller than the state of California and its population is more than half that of the United States.

Both man-sized hamburgers are made with DOUBLE patties of ground chuck plus choice cuts of beef for flavor—100% beef—ground and delivered fresh daily by the finest meat people in town... slipped into buns baked fresh every day.

For cheeseburger lovers, we add mellow Cheddar Cheese, slowly melted over the double patties... and top both big "DOUBLES" with catsup, mustard and pickles—of the same quality as the condiments you keep on your shelf. Stop at McDonald's and fill all the way up with a man-sized "DOUBLE." See if you're not doubly pleased with the hearty results.

Dairymen Given Cautious Words On Two Issues

SYRACUSE N.Y. (AP) — A dairy industry leader said today that milk production between now and 1980 must increase twice as fast as in the 1960-1965 period to keep up with population growth.

At the same time, Lester W. Martin, president of the Dairy-men's League Cooperative Association, cautioned dairy farmers to go slow, lest they find themselves "once more the victims of our own efficiency."

No Assurance

Martin, in a report prepared for the cooperative's annual convention, said farmers who wish to meet the nation's production needs faced a lack of adequate assurance that new investments would be justified by future farm milk prices.

While he said it was normally necessary to expand production, "no justification for a man to gamble on a debt-financed crash program of expansion based on what really amounts to only an optimistic outlook."

He said the federal government had been urged "to evaluate its needs for food products in all classifications, foreign and domestic, to establish basic guidelines which will enable our industry to meet the demand for milk in a sensible, economically sound manner."

Between 1954 and 1964, the number of pasteurizing plants in Upstate New York declined from 754 to 358, he said.

"These statistics add up to one conclusion," Martin said.

Killed by Tree

INDIAN LAKE, N.Y. (AP) — Noel R. Webb, 25, of this Adirondack Mountain community, was killed Wednesday when a tree fell on him as he was pulling logs with a tractor, about 10 miles north of here.

"If a cooperative is to be anything other than an expensive bookkeeping service to its members, it must get into direct milk-marketing all the way and get large enough to have a measurable impact on price and marketing practices."

Net Sales Gain

Eugene J. Vandenberg, treasurer of the 15,000-member organization, reported that the league had net sales of $231,333,904 during the fiscal year ended March 31, an increase of $12,915,224 over the previous year's total.

He also said the league would continue its present financing system, under which members lend the association 10 cents for each 100 pounds of milk (46.5 quarts) marketed. This is paid back to the farmer with interest over a 10-year period.

About 2,000 delegates attending the two-day meeting, which ended today.

Weekly Food Review

By SALLY RYAN
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The voice of the housewife is being heard in the supermarket.
Butter prices dropped this week. They had started climbing during the summer as milk production fell, and a week ago were the highest in 14 years.
Now wholesale prices in New York have dropped about 7 cents a pound. Prices are down 5 cents a pound in the Pacific Northwest and 4 cents in California.
Dealers say it is because of consumer resistance to high prices.
Egg prices also are down this week, 1 to 2 cents a dozen on the West Coast and in New York City. They also are lower in the Southwest.

There is good news, too, in the meat department.
Bacon is down 2 to 8 cents a pound on the West Coast, and spareribs 2 to 6 cents.
The price of ready-to-cook poultry appears headed up on the West Coast, but in most areas prices will be considerably lower than they were this summer. One reason, increased competition among pork, chicken and turkeys.
Lettuce, squash, cauliflower, garlic and okra prices headed higher, along with canned sauerkraut, purple plums and black pepper.
Celery, cucumber, green onion, broccoli and apple prices generally are lower, reflecting increased supplies.

BRIDGE

Double Duck, But No Coup

By Oswald & James Jacoby
Newsday-Enterprise Assn.
When you hold the ten spot in addition to the ace and jack you can be sure of two tricks in the suit if you play your ace on the king or queen. In that situation when you hold up you aren't executing a Bath coup. You are doing the exact opposite, because you may be throwing away a trick.
South saw that he could be sure of two spade tricks if he simply put his ace of spades on the queen. Further thought showed that he would not be likely to make his contract if he did that. It looked to him as if West had opened fourth best from a five card suit headed by the king. This left East with the ace-queen of clubs and ace of diamonds for his opening club bid. South would lead a spade and West would hold back his king. The next time in West would collect three spade tricks.
Therefore South let East hold that first spade trick and ducked the second spade lead also. A third spade cleared up the suit for West but did him no good at all. He never was able to get in to take them.
After winning the spade and discarding a club from dummy South entered dummy by overtaking his queen of diamonds with the king. East held back his ace. Then South led the ten of clubs. East rose with the ace of that suit and returned a heart. South won in his hand and overtook his ten of diamonds with dummy's jack. This time East

1,000 Layoff at GE

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—About 1,000 General Electric Co. employees here have been laid off in what a company spokesman says is the aftermath of strikes by other workers.
The spokesman said Wednesday the furloughs came about because of work and material stoppages in the Large Steam Turbine - Generator Department caused by the strike of about 375 workers in the department.
About 125 cranesmen left the job Wednesday, and the layoffs for 950 followed. Earlier in the week, other employees struck, and 50 were laid off then.

Joseph A. Mangino, shop steward of Local 301, International Union of Electrical Workers, said the cranesmen will report to work today.
At the same time, Mangino said the entire local would strike Monday unless a new contract agreement on the local level could be reached by then.
Mangino said the walkout would take place even if national negotiations, now underway in Washington, were settled by the deadline.

Man, 74, Was Just Testing His Guns

NEW YORK (AP) — A 74-year-old man who said he was testing his guns for the opening of the deer hunting season, blasted 18 shots through the walls of his Brooklyn apartment Wednesday night, bringing scores of police to the scene.

He was charged with firing a weapon within city limits and endangering human life, both misdemeanors.

No one was hurt, police said, although four of the shots penetrated two apartments in a separate building.

Vincent Castagliola, a mechanic, surrendered peacefully to police, a rifle cradled in his arms.

Supervisors Face Many Resolutions

In addition to resolutions which will come before the Ulster County board of supervisors at 8 o'clock tonight at the regular October session, there is an unusually large number of communications to be read.

Among the resolutions to be acted upon is one for rescinding the board's recommendation to have a $10,000 item put in the 1967 budget for the Kingston City Library; resolutions calling for appropriations in the budget for the Woodstock, Saugerties and Walkill libraries; establishment of a new Ulster County Airport Commission; authorizing the County Planning Board to study a county-wide plan for collection, treatment and disposal of sewage; a request for inclusion of certain roads in the town of New Paltz for Secondary Federal Aid; the setting of a date for a public hearing by the Tax Base Study Committee on action under the Real Property Tax Law; a recommendation that the board approve recommendations of the Board of Health for use of the TB Hospital; resolution releasing surplus land in the town of Wawarsing to David and Esta H. Levinson; a resolution on hours of closing for the Board of Elections and a resolution on submission of a report by the Community College architects on the controversial "brick" problem at the college.

Named to Study Group

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Two deaf persons recommended by the Empire State Association of the Deaf, are among the 11 members of a new Temporary State Commission to Study the Problems of the Deaf.

The 1966 law that created the commission, whose members were appointed Wednesday, specified that at least two of the governor's appointees should be deaf persons recommended by the association.

Gov. Rockefeller met that requirement by appointing Albert Berke of New York City, a vice president of the association and a consultant at Rockland State Hospital, and Carlton B. Strail of Syracuse, a department store executive.

The governor's other appointees: James F. McGrath of Thornwood, Westchester County, a retired official of the New York Central Railroad; the Rev. Martin J. Hall of Massapequa, director of a division of Catholic Charities that serves deaf children on Long Island; and Mrs. Robert K. Beardsley of Webster, Monroe County, president of the Empire State Association of the Deaf.

Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges appointed Sens. William T. Conklin, R-Brooklyn, James F. Hastings, R-Albany, and Basil Paterson, D-Manhattan.

Wilson Assails Democrats on 'Free Ride' Issue

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County today expressed his extreme criticism of a recent Democrat proposal to eliminate completely the fares on the New York City subway system, and give a "free ride" to the residents of New York City at the expense of the taxpayers of the entire state.

Assemblyman Wilson said the Democratic candidate for Governor, Frank O'Connor, had recently expounded such a proposal at a meeting of the National Press Club in Washington, D. C., and the Republican Assemblyman charged if such a radical scheme were ever put into operation, it would cost the taxpayers of the state well over $300 million dollars.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, if the New York City dominated Democratic Party should gain control of both the state administration and the state Legislature, it would have a most adverse effect upon every taxpayer in upstate New York, and he added the proposal to do away with the subway fares is only one example of how the state treasury would be looted to finance many so-called "free" services in New York City.

Wilson said the present policy of state aid to local areas, including New York City, is a well-balanced program designed to meet the needs of local government and local school districts throughout the state, but the Assemblyman charged a Democrat take-over of the state would shift the bulk of all state revenue towards New York City.

Dems Kill Access Bill

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges maintained today that Assembly Democrats killed the so-called "ACCES" bill this year because there was "nothing in it for New York City."

ACCES — pronounced as though it had two S's — was the abbreviation used to describe legislation providing for establishment of "area centers of cooperative educational services."

Gov. Rockefeller and the State Board of Regents had recommended permitting school districts throughout the state to join in setting up such centers to provide vocational and technical training.

Brydges, the Legislature's top-ranking Republican, observed that that measure was approved unanimously by the GOP-controlled Senate but was held in committee in the Democratic-ruled Assembly.

The Assembly's Democratic leadership "cynically and casually" killed the bill because, Brydges said, he was told "there's nothing in it for New York City."

Brydges cited this as one of the "major failures" of the 1966 legislative session. He maintained in a statement that it could be corrected only by election of Republican majorities in both houses of the Legislature.

at the expense of the rest of the state.

Assemblyman Wilson pointed out the long-standing Democrat policy of maintaining an unrealistically low subway fare in New York City has caused a financial crisis for the New York City Transit Authority, and cited the fact this policy has already meant a current operating deficit of over $60 million dollars. According to Wilson, if the Democrat plan to eliminate the subway fares completely was ever approved by a Democrat-controlled Legislature, and signed into law by a Democrat Governor, it would mean that the taxpayers of Ulster County and all the rest of upstate New York would have to pay the $340 million dollars a year it now takes to operate the New York City subway system. Assemblyman Wilson further pointed out that it would cost as much to finance the "free rides" on the New York City subways as is currently allocated in state aid for local welfare costs throughout the entire state.

Doing The Right Thing

BY ELIZABETH L. POST

LET TODDLERS PHONE THANKS BY THEMSELVES

Dear Mrs. Post: When my children receive birthday cards with money through the mail, I have them telephone the givers immediately to say "thank you." I have done this many years and now I'm proud to say my 11-year-old calls without having to be told. Last week my niece sent our 4-year-old son a card with a few dollars in it. The 11-year-old dialed the number for him and he was thrilled to say "thank you." My niece was very perturbed because I didn't get on the phone to say "thank you" too.

I felt it was my duty to speak for my children before they could talk, but when they learned to speak I felt it was their place to say "thank you," as the gifts were for them, not me. I was never criticized until now. I'm trying to raise our four children properly and would appreciate your telling me the right thing to do.—Mrs. A.M.

Dear Mrs. A.M.: Congratulations to you on teaching your children such good manners! I see no reason that you should detract from your child's pride in making a thank-you call by entering into it yourself. You would naturally add your thanks when you see the donor, or in a separate call if you wish, but the children should get the credit, and the pleasure of doing the job themselves.

Dishwashing Dampens Night Out

Dear Mrs. Post: When I invite relatives and close friends to an informal dinner, I welcome their help with the dishes. In a matter of minutes they are out of the way and I don't have to stay up half the night doing them after they leave. While visiting my niece recently, she refused to let me help her, saying that guests should not be allowed to do dishes. I wonder now, whether I have been terribly wrong in welcoming help from my guests.—Barbara Kaine

Dear Mrs. Kaine: In principle I agree with your niece. An evening free of kitchen chores adds a good deal to a guest's enjoyment. However, like you, I always help at a close friend's or relative's home unless they are adamant in refusing to let me. These same friends generally insist on helping me in turn, but if the load is not overwhelming, I do try to discourage them.

May Beau Bunk in With Brother?

Dear Mrs. Post: I like a boy who lives out of town. I would like to invite him to some of our school parties but afterward it would be too late for him to drive home. Would it be proper to ask him to the parties and then to spend the night with one of my brothers?—Lynn

Dear Lynn: As long as your brothers are consulted and have no objections, it is perfectly proper to ask him to spend the night with them. (A Bell-McClure Syndicate Feature)

Sorosis Meeting Takes Place Here; Hear About Antiques

Sorosis met Monday, October 10th, in the home of Miss Harriet Church in High Falls with 18 members and two guests present. Mrs. Henry Eighmey led devotions.

Mrs. Thomas Reynolds Sr., president, welcomed Miss Mary Newman as a new member.

It was announced that the district meeting of GFWC will be held on October 22 in Saugerties. A letter was read from the gerontology chairman of GFWC, Jane Trebing, in which she gave their new slogan "Discover the Three Graces of Later Life — Learning — Leisure — Love." She suggests a program on old age and a club reporter to give news and developments for the older generation.

Mrs. William Rylance, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Herbert Darrow, who gave a program on antique china. Mrs. Darrow spoke about Wedgwood, Royal Worcester and Cantonese china; and displayed a few pieces of each.

A social hour followed the program with Mrs. James Shelhorse and Mrs. Henry Eighmey at the tea table.

The meeting on October 24 will be in the home of Mrs. Arthur Eymann. Mrs. Henry Eighmey and Miss Martha Freer will have charge of the program on "China and Japan, Our Neighbors in a Shrinking World."

HINTS from HELOISE

Dear Folks:

Forget those cobwebs and the ironing for now, and let's talk a bit.

We all have mashed, smashed, or whipped potatoes each week. Most everybody loves them—besides they are inexpensive. So, we will probably continue to use 'em.

As far as I am concerned, there is nothing better than keeping a box of instant potatoes in our cupboards.

The day you reach into the potato bin and find your potatoes pithy, soft with eyes, etc., and can't use them, you can always reach for that emergency box of instant potatoes.

Now, here's the switch. Plain mashed potatoes and gravy? Nothing doing. Let's change it a bit and pep it up.

I happened to spy a box of dehydrated onions which I also always keep for emergencies, and thought, "Now, Heloise, put your thinker to work and figure out some way like the Chinese do to vary plain ole mashed potatoes." I tried three ways, but here's the most successful which we have used three weeks now and find absolutely delicious.

The directions on the box will say to use so-much water for so-much potatoes. I added two tablespoonfuls of extra water and dumped a tablespoonful of chopped, dehydrated onions in the water and let it sit about 10 minutes.

Then I brought the water to a boil with the onions in it, added the salt and oleo (or butter) and continued following the directions on the box.

Gals, this will give you a crunchy bite when you eat the mashed spuds and the onions also season them.

Why don't you try this? Guests will love it as much as your own family.

For those extra special occasions, top that dish of Heloise's onion-potatoes with some finely grated cheese. It melts in a jiffy and is delicious.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I do a lot of applique work, and instead of buying applique patterns, I buy a large roll of plain white shelf paper and cut squares big enough to cover the desired design.

It's easy to trace on and isn't as apt to tear when you pin it on the material for cutting.

I use a child's coloring book for a lot of my cute picture appliques.

Also, the shelf paper is wonderful for finger painting art just plain drawing; it's so inexpensive and you can cut off as much as you want at a time.

Mrs. James Flynn

Dear Heloise:

I iron in my bedroom, which is next to the bathroom.

After I iron the garments that go on hangers, I hang them on the shower rod until I have finished all my ironing and am ready to put them away.

The method prevents wrinkles in the clothes and saves me walking to the proper closet after ironing each garment.

Clarice

Dear Heloise:

I painted a wooden desk to match my bedroom furniture, and it makes a wonderful dressing table with a mirror hanging behind it.

With all those drawers, it contains. I can now spare a whole one for my many hair rollers.

Willda Hoogerwerf

Dear Heloise:

During a vacation in Europe this summer, I purchased a lovely suede coat, and the manufacturer let me in on their secret method of touch-up cleaning jobs on their suede coats.

Just rub the mark gently with a gum cleaner eraser and presto . . . the nap of the suede looks like new.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

When Friday night's Kingston-Port Jervis football game is finished, the loser might be eliminated from title consideration. That is not a joke, but merely a true statement.

Since there are only four teams in the DUSO Football League, each club plays three circuit games. You can see how damaging a setback can be.

Can Be Four Way Tie:

Of course, there are other possible finishes. Supposing the four clubs (Newburgh, Kingston, Middletown, Port Jervis) all win and tie a game in league play? What happens? You have a four way tie for the championship and all four schools share the trophy.

All this means is that the DUSO League, once the best of all area schoolboy circuits, has just about had it. There is no doubt that this far flung circuit is merely playing out the string and existence is in name only.

We feel that when Kingston High applies for admission to the Dutchess County Scholastic League after the three-year waiting period is up, that circuit will welcome the local school with open arms.

This will leave Newburgh, Middletown and Port Jervis to hold the fort and you can't have a three-team football league unless the schools face each other twice. The system didn't go over too well during the war years when travel was restricted.

Harry Is an Expert:

That speech on the inside of pro football, delivered at Tuesday's Kingston Lions Club meeting by Harry Thayer, was one of the best we have heard on the subject.

Thayer, who was general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles during their championship days, knows the inside of the sport and his remarks were interesting, and in many instances, very enlightening.

Though he hasn't been associated with the game in an executive capacity for several years, you can see that he still is a keen student of pro football.

Monty The Blocker:

When the San Francisco 49ers upset the Green Bay Packers 21-20, last Sunday, George Mira received most of the accolades for his play at quarterback. However, those who had the game on television (Channel 10) probably noticed the tremendous blocking job of 49er tight end Monty Sticks. The former Poughkeepsie High and Notre Dame star broke Mira loose on his 38-yard run with a crunching block and did the same thing on several other occasions.

In addition, Sticks caught three passes and his record for the first four games shows nine receptions for 107 yards, including a touchdown. However, with Dave Parks and Bernie Casey on hand, Sticks is earning most his pay as a blocker and in that department he excels.

College Grid Notes:

Roger Ohlson, who played end for Kingston High, is a starting tackle for the unbeaten Carnegie Institute of Technology eleven. The 6-1, 184-pound frosh has been moved to the first team because of injuries. Tech has won its first three games for the first time since 1959 and plays Grove City this week. Victories have been scored over Worster, 18-6; Oberlin, 14-7; and Allegheny, 19-6. . . . Jim Rattray of Kingston scored a touchdown on a 14 yard pass as his Kenyon College teammates were drubbed, 41-13, by Sewanee. He totaled 45 yards while catching four tosses in the setback. . . . Pistol Pete Petrillo of Newburgh shows 87 yards in 44 rushes to lead the University of Connecticut gridders. Kingston's Paul Gruner has picked up 50 yards in 32 attempts. Petrillo has completed 12 passes in 37 tries and Gruner shows a 9-26 record. The UConn's are winless in three starts and meet Maine this week. . . . Brian Bach of Kingston, noted for his ability to throw a baseball, is a halfback on the Connecticut frosh team. Also a member of that squad is Mike Washington of Newburgh Free Academy.

Russians Pose Major Threat In Little Olympics Diving

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The main confrontation between Russia and the United States in the Little Olympics comes this week on the diving boards.

"The Soviets came over determined to win the diving," said Harry Hainsworth, swimming director for the U.S. Amateur Athletic Union. "They are good and, if we aren't careful, they just might do it."

Swimming and diving began today at the Zacatenco Pool. The blue ribbon track and field competition doesn't start until next Tuesday.

Diving is an event which traditionally has been Uncle Sam's private property in the Olympics, but the Russians have come up fast in style off both the springboard and the platform.

Their chief hopes in the Little Olympics are Natalia Kusnetsova, a 19-year old student who won the women's platform title in the European Championships, and Mikhail Safanov, Europe's springboard men's champion.

There are two other formidable girl divers — Vera Baklanova, winner of Europe's springboard, and Alena Anohina, silver medalist in the 1964 Tokyo games.

The United States will depend upon a stout team of national champions.

Sue Gossick of Tarzana, Calif., finished fourth in the springboard at Tokyo. Shirley Teepies of Compton, Calif., is national platform champion and Joel O'Connell of Sunnyvale, Calif., won the U.S. crown on the one-meter board, not contested here.

Opposing Safanov in the men's diving will be Bernie Wrightson of Tucson, Ariz., U.S.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

IF WOODEN OR BALSA DECAYS ARE ACCIDENTLY SHOT, OR AS PAINT CHIPS DURING THE SEASON, DON'T DELAY REPAIRS UNTIL SEASON'S END--WATER AND MORE CHIPPING DOUBLES THE DAMAGE.

AFTER USAGE, LET DECAYS DRY COMPLETELY--AWAY FROM DIRECT HEAT OR SUNSHINE. THEN FILL SHOT HOLES WITH WOOD PUTTY, DRY ONE DAY. TOUCH UP CHIPPED PAINT WITH ARTIST'S OIL PAINTS, MIXING TALCUM POWDER (OR LAMP BLACK IF NEEDED FOR DARKS) WITH PAINT FOR A DULL--NOT GLOSSY--FINISH.

VFW Honors Two Baseball Teams

City Judge Hubert Richter told members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars' two junior baseball championship teams that the Vets were "doubly proud of you" at a dinner honoring the champions.

VFW representatives captured the pennant in the National Little League and the Babe Ruth League.

Judge Richter told the group of more than 100 players, officials and others that "the post is proud of you — win or lose — but tonight, we're doubly proud of you." He emphasized good sportsmanship and said the VFW hoped the lessons they learned in playing baseball would help them grow into better citizens in their community and country.

Brief congratulatory statements were made by Post Commander Eugene Winter, Andrew Edge, Post Senior Vice Commander Joseph Kelly, retired city editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Commander Winter presented each boy with a trophy. Managers of the winning teams — Ron Diers of the VFW Pirates and Tony Valle of the VFW Babe Ruth squad — with plaques in recognition of their services. The team managers, Charles Diers and Jim Geanules, also received plaques.

Players Honor Manager

Ed Byman, captain of the Babe Ruth squad, presented a plaque to Valle in behalf of his teammates. Valle announced his retirement and will be succeeded by Irving Ruger.

Among the guests were John Bach, president of the Babe Ruth League, and James Noble, National Little League president. John Connors, past activities chairman, coordinated the dinner. Clayton Stalter was the toastmaster.

Floyd Has Early Lead in Sahara On 3-Under 68

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) —The $100,000 Sahara Invitational Golf Tournament swung into the second round Thursday with several intriguing possibilities.

Could Ray Floyd, the first-round leader, hang onto it with his first round three - under-par 68?

Could the more celebrated Bill Casper, Jack Nicklaus or Arnold Palmer break par in quest of the $20,000 first prize?

Can Casper go on to win the event twice in a row?

Would the gusty desert winds continue?

So it was as play resumed over the par-36-35 71 Paradise Valley Country Club course and its 7,069 yards of golfing real estate.

The weatherman predicted winds of 25-30 miles per hour all day. The big breeze blew only the last part of the first round Wednesday.

Floyd, an early starter Wednesday, had no complaints. He had six birdies and three bogies in his first competition since the Cleveland Open in August.

National Open champion Casper had no argument with the weather in the first round but conceded he did not putt well as he shot a 37-36-73.

Nicklaus, the two-in-a-row Masters winner, was not hampered by the wind, he said, and his round of 36-35-71 included one bogey and one birdie.

Palmer shot 33-36-71 and blamed the wind for most of his troubles. On the third hole, he said, a chip shot blew laterally 20 feet into the stiff elements.

Beginning the second round, Mike Souchak and George Archer were one stroke behind Floyd, and tied at 70.

Sports Car Club Finale Saturday

The Sports Car Club of America winds up its 1966 Northeastern Area championship series Saturday at Lime Rock Park, Conn.

This will be the eleventh in a series of races in major tracks, including Lime Rock, Thompson Raceway, Bryar Motorsport Park, and Bridgehampton. Many of the class titles are still up for grabs.

The point leaders in H Production, Bob Ackroyd of Warwick, R. I. and Don Ward, New Haven, Conn., both failed to finish the September race at Lime Rock, and now lead the winner Bill Smith of Riverdale, N. J., 37-27.

Arlene Lanzieri of Stamford, Conn., also scored to increase her total to 27 points to make it a four-way duel. Miss Lanzieri, incidentally, is a member of a team with Shirley Van Kleek of New Paltz.

Pete Pulver of Millerton leads Bill Infield, Elizabeth, N. J. 40-37, in the B production series.

MEETS THE PRESS—Floyd Patterson, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, is interviewed by Miss Mike Turner, editor of the New Paltz High Lights on his visit to the college town Wednesday. Patterson, now residing at Marlborough, arrived at New Paltz airport in his private plane. He is scheduled to box Karl Mildenberger of Germany in December. (Freeman photo by Wagenföhr).

Roettger Sets Mark

UCCC Cross Country Team Beats Dutchess

John Roettger set a course record and the harriers of Ulster Community College beat Dutchess Community, 23-34, at the losers' 3.2 mile course Thursday.

Roettger, the former Pine Bush ace, was timed in 17 minutes, 4 seconds. The previous mark was 17:14.

Coach Dick Glazer's harriers showed good team balance and gave a good effort in beating the hosts. Barry Hopkins and John Sullivan finished third and fourth for Ulster.

The Senators will entertain Adirondack Community Monday, 4 o'clock, at Dietz Stadium.

Pizzeria Upsets Unbeaten Jack's In 'Y' Loop, 67-62

Tony's Pizzeria knocked Jack's Barber Shop from the ranks of the unbeaten, 67-62 and Food Fair edged Frank's Hunting Lodge, 75-68, in YMCA fall basketball action Wednesday.

Food Fair joined Donnie's Van and Spanton Pools at the top of the league with 3-0 records. Jack's dropped their first decision in four starts.

Tony's pulled the game out of the fire in the last 90 seconds on baskets by John Falvey and Bill Huber, who take game honors with 31 points. Wally Lucas led Jack's with 17 points. Gary Greiner and Bruce Ackert each potted 15.

Deadlocked at 29-29 at the half, Food Fair gained a 46-39 margin over Frank's Hunting Lodge after the intermission. John Vaughn canned 25 points for Frank's, with Frank Allen (24) and Frank Passante (21) pacing the winners.

Sports Briefs

Ritter, who has been playing only with the Kicking unit, ran through plays in that position Wednesday because two other halfbacks, Ed Zak and Jim Hoops, have suffered injuries to their right knees.

Musick also announced that defensive end Dick Gerken, who had been sidelined with an injured left ankle, would be fit for service in the Cambridge, Mass., contest.

Possession of the "Little Brown Jug" is fought for by the universities of Michigan and Minnesota.

Pine Bush Man Killed

While driving his car along Route 302 near Pine Bush at 6 p. m. Wednesday, Anthony Moriano, 46, of that community, was instantly killed when his vehicle went out of control and crashed into a tree. Middletown state police said. Coroner Dr. C. Hudson Thompson ruled the death accidental. It was Orange County's 50th highway fatality of 1966.

additional assistance" to meet "the needs created by the new phase of the American aggression."

Trained by Soviets

"Military personnel for the armed forces of North Viet Nam are being trained in the Soviet Union," he said.

Kosygin made the speech during a visit to the Soviet Union by Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka and other Polish officials for talks on Viet Nam and Red China.

Kosygin accused Peking of rendering "a big service to the enemies of socialism, to all the enemies of peace and progress."

Summarizing part of Kosygin's speech, Tass reported:

"The Soviet prime minister said the events in China associated with the so-called 'great cultural revolution,' and other recent developments indicated that the Chinese leaders were proceeding further and further along the road of division, and were causing serious damage by their policy to the struggle for socialism, for the freedom of the peoples, to the cause of peace and international security."

then the responsible Washington officials need to have their heads examined."

Briggs spoke at a banquet Wednesday night at the Metropolitan Club.

Briggs, 67, retired from the Foreign Service after 41 years in U.S. missions and embassies. From 1945 to 1956, he was ambassador in four Latin countries — the Dominican Republic, Peru, Uruguay and Brazil.

Scores S-A Tour

Without mentioning Kennedy by name, Briggs criticized the senator's three-week tour of five South American nations last fall.

Referring to the activities of the "youthful senator," Briggs said:

"In a reverse situation, an invading foreigner who presumed to harangue a North American audience about civil rights, the slowness of desegregation or inadequate taxes would be lucky to escape with his shirt on his back. He would almost certainly lose his bombachas" — Spanish for breeches.

Killed on Thruway

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Joseph Ralabate, 66, of Buffalo died Wednesday night in Emergency Hospital of injuries suffered Monday when his pickup truck crashed through guard rails on the Niagara section of the Thruway and plunged down a 55-foot embankment. He lived at 530 Busti Ave.

Continue Action In 1963 Death

Continued in Supreme Court before Justice Harry E. Schirck today was an action arising out of the death of a Napanoch carpenter who was fatally injured in May 1963 when he fell from a scaffold at the Homowack Hotel at Spring Glen where construction was going on.

Eleanor Geiselhart brings an action against the Sullivan County Ready-Mixed Concrete Corp. of Monticello and others for the death of her husband, Carl Geiselhart, 49, who died as a result of a fall from a scaffold on which he was working. It is charged the concrete corporation was delivering concrete for a cellar floor in the building and a concrete chute was placed through scaffolding at a cellar window. In removing the chute it caught the scaffold and Geiselhart was injured. Named as defendants are employees of the concrete company and the sub-contractor who was doing cement work.

Napoleone, Kelly and Saccomanno appear for the plaintiff, Geiselhart; Cook, Tucker and Geisler appear for the Sullivan County Ready-Mixed Concrete corporation and other defendants are represented by Gaffney and Hill and Larkin and Vogt.

An automobile negligence action brought by Jeannette Ferraro and another against Timothy J. Smythe and another, resulted in a no cause verdict. Vernon Murphy for plaintiffs and John J. Mulvey for defendants.

fore," Yosman said. However, we expect that approval by Saturday and should be letting contracts on the 135-unit project by next week.

Yerry said of Goldstein, "I have no ill will toward Mr. Goldstein and I hope he does not interpret these events as meaning that I do. I am merely doing my job which is to find the lowest responsible bidder for KHA construction work."

The ERA Electrical Construction Corp. is one of the largest in the Hudson Valley, doing an estimated $500,000 worth of business a year. Goldstein, the president and owner, had been in the electrical contracting business for over 25 years and has worked in the Kingston area since 1954. The company has offices at 435 Pearl Street.

Man Is Arraigned On Malignant Charge

A Kingston man was arraigned on charges of making a malicious telephone call today in City Court for allegedly threatening to kill a local woman with a shotgun.

Ruben Maben, 57, was apprehended by a citizen's arrest by Mrs. Margaret Reardon of 136 Delaware Avenue after he allegedly threatened to kill Mrs. Reardon with a shotgun. Maben, who lives at Box 214, Walton Lane, reportedly said he was on his way to the Delaware Avenue address with the shotgun to shoot Mrs. Reardon. She arrested Maben and he was remanded to the Ulster County jail.

The case was adjourned for the purpose of getting counsel for the defendant.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A turbulent stock market remained higher, early this afternoon despite profit-taking. Trading was the week's heaviest.

The ticker tape ran late as stocks pushed their recovery drive into the fourth straight session.

Many early gains were either pared or canceled. Losses of fractions to a point were spotted among gains that ran as much as 3 points or higher — among glamor issues.

The follow-through from Wednesday's rally was linked with hopes that this time the great stock market slide of 1966 had found a bottom. Analysts said, however, that last week's low would have to be "tested" before there would be any firm basis for such theory.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.68 at 782.85. The average backed away from a rise of 7.18 in the first half hour.

U.S. Profs . . .*Nobel Prize for Medicine

In 1910, Rous discovered the first virus that evokes malignant growths of the sarcoma type in hens. He managed to isolate that virus and kept it alive by letting it pass through fertilized hens' eggs.

His discovery of hen tumors was immediately corroborated by many laboratories but was not reproduced in initial experiments with mice and rats.

Thus the thought of viruses playing a part in the process of tumor growths died out.

Rous discontinued his research in the field in 1915, but the seeds he had planted were to grow up later.

New developments followed in the early 1930s through Rockefeller Institute research and then it was discovered that a mice virus could evoke cancer of the breast.

The virus-cancer theory, however, did not attain any notable acclamation and as late as 1950 there was only one lecture on the importance of this connection at the Paris cancer congress.

Saugerties Mother Of Five Daughters Wins $1,180 on TV

The dream of millions of American housewives came true today for Mrs. Mary Jane Barley, Saugerties RD 1, when she answered a telephone call today that won her $1,180 in cash and merchandise prizes.

Mrs. Barley won the money and prizes after her card was selected by David Allan, host of Schenectady Channel 6 television show called "Pick-a-Show," aired daily at 9 a. m.

The money constituted a jackpot that has grown for two months, according to Leonard Sarnacki, a spokesman for the station.

He said Mrs. Barley, wife of a local truck driver and mother of five daughters (aged eight years to four months) will appear on the television show Friday to pick up her winnings.

Sauer Says Farm Ponds Changing Face of America

Farm ponds have literally changed the rural landscape over the past 30 years, according to Joseph Sauer, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

Sauer reported U.S. farmers and ranchers—with cost-sharing aid under the Agricultural Conservation Program—have built almost two million water storage reservoirs of various types during those years.

In Ulster County, he added, farmers have built about 75 farm ponds with ACP assistance over the past three years alone. The practice is among the most important ones encouraged by the program.

Sauer said the number of farm ponds contain enough water to supply American households for one year.

He added that farm ponds are contributing to landscape beautification and are furnishing additional recreation opportunities for many American families.

For Diversification Income Stocks

Q) "Besides my portfolio of income stocks for my living expenses, I own 1,500 First United Life Insurance on which I ask your opinion. Also should I use part of my $30,000 savings reserve to buy more stocks?" J.M.

A) Yes, it would be desirable to broaden your portfolio, now largely concentrated in utilities. Keeping in mind the income objective, I recommend Norfolk & Western; Atchafalaya; Dana Corp.; Gen. Motors; Lorillard & Reynolds Tobacco; Std. Oil of New Jersey or others mentioned here recently.

Your insurance stock has followed the general downward trend of its group. Operating for ten years within a limited area of midwestern states, the company seems well managed and is growing. If you invested for long-term holding to assist the promotion of a local enterprise, you should hold the shares. Further expansion of the company should keep pace with economic developments in the sales area. If you want to move out, the shares are regularly — but not too actively — traded through Chicago and Indianapolis dealers.

Q) "What is your opinion of Pacific Intermountain Express? I understand it pays $1.80 quarterly on shares worth $18. I need more income than I receive from 300 shares of No. American Aviation and 14 shares of Pittsburgh Plate Glass." A.L.

A) First, may I correct the dividend rate you quote for PIE? The indicated rate is 80 cents a year, or 15 cents quarterly with 20 cents as a year-end extra in 1965. This provides a 5.3 per cent yield at current trading levels. On the same basis, No. American Aviation yields 6.4 per cent and Pittsburgh Plate Glass 4.6 per cent. If the latter two were converted into PIE shares your annual income would drop about $140.

In my judgment Pacific Inter. Express is a speculative issue subject to cyclical influences — is not right for you. Hold Pittsburgh Plate Glass and 100 No. American Aviation. Use the cash released to buy two of the income issues listed above.

is carefully groomed to keep it looking "homey" and not "estatey." According to the Wall Street Journal, the farm, on this first day of the auction, is already starting to look like "the White House grounds during the Easter egg hunt" and to resemble "rush-hour at Grand Central Station combined with the Chicago Stockyards."

Traffic Grows

The brief economic boom in Rhinebeck has also effected local residents. Many of them have been hired to help handle the sale, direct traffic and aid and abet the auctioneering. Directing traffic alone is a major problem as chartered buses from New York pour into town. Even the skies over Rhinebeck are active as twin-engine planes land with breeders who have come from Kansas City by way of New Jersey airports.

Five auctioneers will become hoarse during the three-day proceedings and thousands of cocktails will be served in the huge 100-by-40 foot tent on the grounds. The ancient trade of auctioneer will be augmented by the modern phenomenon of automation as an electric tote board flashes lot numbers so all bidders in the action will know what is being offered.

The famed old Beekman Arms Hotel is catering the event and serving up refreshments and Ankonny Farm has left no stone unturned; will even supply plastic boots in the event of rain.

Amid the fireworks foliage of autumn, money men will concentrate on fancy finances in Rhinebeck this week, while pretty much ignoring the fall scenery. Professional breeders will be the customers and they'll buy for many reasons; because their tax accountants have pointed out the write off possibilities, because they can sell beef to supermarket chains and because steak houses across the country can't get enough of the luscious and tender Angus meat for their customers.

In the final analysis, Rhinebeck is making news this week and its bulls are making money. Austria introduced postcards in 1896.

New Trend Noted In Woodstock Talk By Four Candidates

The three major debates between the four Congressional candidates in this 28th District held prior to Wednesday night, like the candidates who argued in them, were hardly surprising. The most interesting deviation from the norm was the intrusion of President Charles DeGaulle of France into the arguments — an issue that sometimes rolled tempers and sometimes drew laughs but could not be classified under local interest.

The arguments between the quartet of Congressional candidates up until Wednesday night in Woodstock all shared common strengths and weaknesses. But as the four fought it out in the art colony's Town Hall Wednesday, at a Candidate Night sponsored by the Woodstock Jaycees, a new trend began to emerge. It made itself felt loud and clear; was a promise of things to come.

By the time incumbent Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) had finished the third sentence of his opening statement, the lines were clearly drawn and it was evident Resnick planned a major attack against Independent Peace candidate Eric Lindbloom and his supporters. No longer was Resnick quietly defending his position and that of President Lyndon B. Johnson in Viet Nam; he was getting hard and tough.

Without mincing words, Resnick immediately charged Lindbloom and his supporters of taking the position that "President Johnson is off on a mad, reckless, immoral and illegal war and that Americans have become a race of sower mad men, whose only goal in life is to destroy the South Vietnamese people."

North Says "No"
By the time he wound up his remarks, he had insisted that he and President Johnson want to negotiate, want to stop the bombing and de-escalate the ground war — but that North Viet Nam has said "no" to every overture of peace from wherever it came.

Declared Resnick, who almost totally ignored in his speech his other two Congressional opponents, Republican Hamilton Fish Jr. and Conservative Jean Hervey: "I, as one American, will do everything in my power to bring this tragic war in Viet Nam to a speedy conclusion through negotiations, but I will never advocate surrender. A peace achieved by the death of freedom is not for me."

Accepting the gauntlet tossed down by Resnick, Lindbloom, on his part, maintained that Viet Nam and American foreign policy are the most important issues facing Congressional candidates this fall; said the United States is tying with World War 3 and a total holocaust that is in no one's interest. He charged that this country has been responsible for the escalations and extending perimeters of the war, causing us to lose effective influence in and through the United Nations and weakening our bonds with our Western allies.

"We have succumbed to dangerous arrogance of power," he said, "and must now work for an equitable negotiated settlement since we are morally obliged to find a solution and since we can accommodate non-violent social change."

Two Clash Repeatedly
The entire Woodstock debate was primarily a clash between Resnick and Lindbloom and each directed his remarks in opening statements and rebuttal to the other, giving Hamilton Fish Jr. and Jean Hervey limited opportunity for verbal fireworks.

Fish used his time, however, to reiterate what he considers the three major issues in the campaign: foreign policy, Resnick's record and the national economy. While he personally supports this nation's commitment in Viet Nam, he said, he feels we lack a vision of what we are fighting for and need a systematic review of our entire foreign policy. He urged moves to strengthen the United Nations and called for an Asian conference. He attacked Resnick for "failing to discharge the first job of a Congressman — participation in legislation," said he had been absent from his seat in Congress at least 40 per cent of the time and was a rubber stamp for the Johnson administration.

He continued his earlier attacks against inflation and decried the fact that "inflation is called prosperity today." It was his contention that "the price rises of 1966 have not been tolerable when translated into human terms."

Conservative Views
Hervey, the Conservative candidate, showed an unexpected talent for inserting wit into the arguments and displayed a grass roots humor not unlike that more sophisticated brand used by nationally known Conservative William Buckley in last fall's majority race in New York City. Hervey said he was for winning the war in Viet Nam, for a sane fiscal policy for the State of New York and the nation, for a balanced budget, and for keeping the country from "going over the hill to the poorhouse."

His remarks produced one interesting new theory and suggestion. It was his contention that the vast and rapidly accumulating social security funds should be taken out of the government's hands and put back where they came from — private hands, which should be given the power to administer them.

The Woodstock Candidate Night drew a full house at the local Town Hall, which seats approximately 300 persons. Jaycee president John Spratt welcomed the audience and the Rev. Edward Schmidt, vicar of St. Gregory's Church, Woodstock, served as the moderator. The crowd was, for the most part, well-mannered, although the moderator did, on one occasion, gavel a spectator out of order for querying Hervey if he would use atomic missiles when the Conservative candidate maintained that the U. S. should get its ground troops out of Viet Nam and concentrate the attack with bombs from the air and missiles from the sea.

Smoke Damage

Woodstock fire fighters were called out at 11:35 p. m. Wednesday after smoke was discovered in the home of Lieut. Col. Edward F. duCharme off Wittenberg Road at Bearsville. Fier Chief Duncan Wilson said the smoke was caused by a moped attached to a blower on the said "and must now work for an equitable negotiated settlement since we are morally obliged to find a solution and since we can accommodate non-violent social change."

RVCS Students Hear Freeman on Farm Programs

Ten Rondout Valley Central School agriculture students heard United States Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman speak on the subject Build Countryside USA.

Secretary Freeman spoke at the Hunter Ski Bowl on Friday as a part of the Farmers Home Administration conference on federal assistance programs to rural people and their communities.

Agriculture students who attended were Robert Bennett, Bruce Brower, Ray Carroll, Tom Gray, Joe Roddy, Steven Solberg, Barry Vandemack, Dennis VanWagenen, Zeno Wicks, and Beth Wynkoop. Attending with the students was Walter Elmore, teacher of Agriculture at Rondout Valley.

Secretary Freeman pointed out that 70 per cent of the population of the United States lives on less than 1 per cent of the land area. He said that jobs and opportunities in the rural areas have not been equal to those in the large urban areas. Therefore many rural leaders have been drawn away from the rural areas where more than half of them really would prefer to live and raise their families.

The Secretary said that the rural areas generally were not able to offer equal opportunities in jobs, in education, in recreation and in social activities. He went on to point out that several of the administration's programs aimed at improving the opportunities in rural areas. He stressed the variety of programs offered through the Farmers Home Administration for the farmer, rural nonfarmer, rural small businessman, and small rural communities.

Secretary Freeman concluded by noting that many businesses have elected to move out of the large urban areas and were finding many willing workers who are highly dependable once they have been trained.

Build Countryside USA has the backing of the administration and appears to be one program about which the public will be hearing much more in the months ahead.

World News In Brief

Brandt Visits East

BERLIN (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt visited East Berlin Wednesday night for the first time since the Communist wall went up five years ago.

The official East German news agency ADN reported the mayor had a "free exchange of views" with Pyotr Abrassimov, the Soviet ambassador to East Germany. Neither the United States nor West Germany officially recognize the East German regime.

Brandt, mayor of West Berlin since 1957 and the leader of West Germany's Socialist party, has advocated "little steps" toward the East to ease personal, business and political relations between the two Germanys.

Leadership Revamped

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea's Communist party has revamped its leadership, giving a new party title to Premier Kim Il Sung. Two vice premiers appear to have been downgraded in an effort to keep the middle of the road between Moscow and Peking.

The ruling Workers party, meeting Wednesday in the capital of Pyongyang, announced it had abolished Kim's post of chairman and named him general secretary of a new secretariat of the Central Committee. There was no official indication what the changes signified.

Score Construction

ROME (AP) — A government commission investigating the destructive landslide in Agri-gento in July says the Sicilian city suffered from "monstrous, inhuman and uncivilized" construction activity.

It said city officials may have been guilty of criminal offenses in allowing builders to ignore building codes.

The commission said illegal and excessive construction on unstable terrain may have contributed to the landslide July 19 that left 8,000 homeless.

Tell Happenings Of Viet Vet After Castle Point Stay

By HARRY E. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

FULTON, Mo. (AP) — On a hot day in December, 1964, Lt. Le Van Trinh—at 26 a veteran of four years fighting the Viet Cong—was struck in the back with a .50 caliber bullet. Twenty-four hours later he was found, paralyzed from the waist down, by a U.S. Army captain.

Capt. James Behnke, now an ROTC instructor at Westminster College, never forgot him and through Behnke's efforts, Lt. Trinh today began a new life as a student at Westminster.

Royal Greeting

The 38 men of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity were outside their house when Behnke drove up with Trinh Wednesday night. As the lieutenant was wheeled up the walk they stepped forward one at a time to shake his hand.

"So happy," murmured Trinh to each one. "So happy."

The lieutenant was one of 56 South Vietnamese paraplegics taken to Castle Point, N.Y., for therapy through special order of President Johnson. It took another order from the President, and permission from the Vietnamese government, to allow his attendance for a year at the Presbyterian college.

Trinh had been commanding a Ranger company that came under heavy Viet Cong attack. Behnke said. He was shot in the spine and will never walk again.

Has Smile

"The next day I found him. And he had a smile on his face, even though he couldn't move," Behnke added. Behnke was a military advisor.

When the lieutenant was taken to the Castle Point Veterans Administration Hospital he wrote his old friend.

"That's when I got the idea to bring him to the college," Behnke said. Dr. Robert L. D. Davidson, president of the college, arranged a full-tuition scholarship for Trinh. Behnke asked the fraternity which enthusiastically granted Trinh free room and board. Civic groups put up money for books, clothes and incidentals.

"I like to be soldier," Trinh said, "and now I like to be student. Someday I go back to my country and help others who are not so fortunate."

Schueler Seeks $6,200 Boost for Dutchess Post

Town of Poughkeepsie Supervisor Edward C. Schueler is asking a $6,200 salary increase to $15,000 next year, according to entries in the preliminary budget to be discussed on Wednesday, Oct. 26 at a public hearing.

Commenting on the pay hike, Schueler was quoted: "Being the town supervisor is a full-time job. I am in the office each day from 9 to 5 p. m. The town has grown to a point where the position no longer can be treated as part-time."

Contending that he does not think that $15,000 is out of line for the workload of the town supervisor, Schueler noted that Poughkeepsie City Manager Theodore Maurer receives a salary of $18,000 for administering city affairs.

Other proposed pay increases include $700 for Police Chief Charles Schade, from $9,300 to $10,000. Increases in salary also are proposed for all key town hall personnel.

The Town Council also plans to create the position of town comptroller at a $10,000 salary; add an assistant town attorney at a $4,000 salary and raise the town attorney's salary from $5,000 to $8,000. The budget also provides for a 15-cent an hour raise for highway department workers.

President Draws N.Y. Crowds in O'Connor Behalf

By JON KAPSTEIN
Associated Press Writer

The Democratic candidate for governor, Frank D. O'Connor, basked in the warm glow today of presidential support, while the other candidates for the state's highest office sought to stay out of the cold.

Republican Gov. Rockefeller strived to build the fires of voter support Wednesday in the same areas that President Johnson traveled with O'Connor and Democratic congressional candidates.

The President drew enthusiastic crowds to his New York City campaign tour, while — sometimes just behind and sometimes just ahead — Rockefeller zigzagged the streets in his 'bid for a third term.

"I want to thank you in advance for the great majority you're going to give Frank O'Connor," Johnson said in Brooklyn as he draped his arm around the candidate's shoulder.

Meanwhile, Liberal candidate Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. also joined the political scene at the reviewing stand of the annual Columbus Day parade up Fifth Avenue.

The four major gubernatorial candidates, including Conservative Paul L. Adams, who was Upstate Wednesday, also agreed to a debate on television Oct. 29. The hour — long debate, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. (on WABC-TV) drew criticism from O'Connor, who sent Rockefeller a telegram challenging the governor to a two-man debate.

In charging that Rockefeller was "ducking" a face-to-face television confrontation with his major opponent, O'Connor said the four-man debate would "not discharge our responsibilities to the people."
